TERROR-STRICKEN INHABITANTS OF ST. PIERRE FLED IN VAIN TO SANCTUARY FOR PROTECTION

(Special Cable to the Gazette.)
(Copyright, 1902, by New York Herald Company.)

FORT DE FRANCE, MARTINQUE, May 11.—The first relief parties have ventured into the streets of St. Pierre. It was not expected that survivors would be found, and so there has been no disappointment at the mournful reports that have been returned. All of the earlier stories of the disaster worked by Mont Pelee, have been verified. The destruction of the city is complete. Not a building remains standing. The desolation baffles description.

Piles of dead in the vicinity of the site of the cathedral tell a story of the attempt to find sanctuary and refuge in the great structure of worship. Men and women, panic-stricken at the cataclysm, turned in the moment of their despair to the cathedral and apparently were overcome before they could reach its doors.

So far the search has been hindered by the fires that are still raging, and the investigators are in great danger. Mont Pelee is active, but the eruption is slowly subsiding. In St. Pierre every form of life apparently has been destroyed. It will be impossible to penetrate to the center of the ruins for several days.

From the positions of the bodies, the opinion is formed that many were overcome almost before they realized the extent of the peril. Many of the bodies are in life-like postures, as if death had come with a breath, as, indeed, may have been the case. Many of the bodies are so burned as to make identification impossible, but in other cases the opposite is the case. Some have been identified by the searching parties, which are all under military control and are conducted under orders.

Scenes in St. Pierre are heartrending. Steps have been taken to prevent disease resulting from the disaster. Burial parties are working night and day, but it is impossible that the dead can be cared for as their friends would wish.

Military rule is established in the town to prevent vandals from working. Such property as has not been destroyed will be protected.

Heat in Other Isles of Lesser Antilles Almost Unbearable — A Celebrated Boiling Lake Utterly Disappears. Earthquakes Continuous.

St. Thomas, D. W. I., May 11.—Famine now threatens to add its horrors to the situation in Martinique. From the country districts the inhabitants are flocking into Fort de France, and all are panicstricken. Already food has become scarce and the supply depots are under military guard. Terrible suffering can be averted only by the early arrival of provision ships.

St. Pierre had ever served as the storehouse of the entire Island. Reserve supplies were kept there, and with the complete destruction of that city starvation became an immediate menace. Fort de France, with a population of about 12,000, has been little more than a great military post, so that it is now unable to give more than shelter to the refugees.

Showers of hot mud and cinders have served to keep the population of Fort de France in constant terror, though no actual damage is known to have been done there.

Mont Pelee, the volcano which wiped out St. Pierre, continues in active eruption, though with weakening force.

Relief Ships Driven Back.

The steamer Korona of the Quebec line, a sister ship of the Roraima, has carried Mr. Scott, first officer of the Roraima, and 18 others, saved from the same vessel, to Dominica. The captain reports that on Friday he attempted to force his way with the Korona into the harbor at St. Pierre, but was compelled to give up the attempt, owing to the intense heat and the smoke which hangs in a dense cloud over the Island. He did get close enough to see that Mont Pelee was still active. Numerous half-burned bodies were observed but none was picked up.

It is known that 18 vessels were in the harbor on the morning of May 8, when destruction fell upon St. Pierre. These included four American sailing ships. All were destroyed save the Roddam. They were simultaneously swept by the great cloud of flame and sank at anchor. The Roraima would have escaped had the explosion been delayed a few minutes. The ship's anchor was lifted and the engine was ready to start when the vessel was overwhelmed. The sea was transformed into a steaming cauldron, into which the sailors sprang, crazed by their sufferings. Twenty-one cabin passengers lost their lives.

Five Hundred Died in St. Vincent.

From St. Vincent have been received meagre reports of the disaster in that island. Warning of the activity of the volcano Soufriere was had on May 7. All that day premonitions of disaster seemed to fill the air. Up to the afternoon of Friday over 200 deaths had occurred there owing to the volcanic outbreak in that island. Definite news, however, is lacking. It is believed that not less than 500 persons on the island have perished. Most of the corpses remain unburied.

The skies were heavily overcast, deep thunder was almost incessant, while vivid lightning never ceased to play. From the mountain came the mutterings that sent panic to the hearts of all dwellers in the island. Smoke rose in huge columns and volcanic dust filled the air. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon it was as dark as midnight. Richmond park and the estate of Wallboo were destroyed. Chateau Belair district was covered two feet deep with ashes. Earthquakes were continuous. Kingston seemed to be threatened and fear was upon all.

The Soufriere did not cease to roar during the night of May 7. Volcanic dust continued falling, giving the entire island of St. Vincent a deep mantle.

Unbearable Heat Elsewhere.

Reports from Barbadoes and Grenada are that on Thursday the heat was almost unbearable. The sky lowered until at 3 o'clock darkness was absolute. Distinct reports, like those of great cannon, were heard from the direction of St. Vincent. Ashes fell constantly, making it difficult to live in the open.

Appeals have been sent to the neighboring islands for assistance, and food may come in tomorrow. Meanwhile the few provision stores are under close guard by the soldiers. In the country there is no food, and it is believed that thousands are starving. As soon as food can be obtained, relief parties will be sent out from Fort de France.

Many persons were drowned while crossing to Dominica from the island of Martinique, where some of the out-parishes have been inundated. The lava in Martinique is progressing northward. The whole northern region is now a rocky waste, denuded of vegetation.

The British royal mail steamer Solent has gone from Barbadoes to Martinique with supplies and doctors. From the island of Trinidad the British royal mail steamer Kennet has gone to Fort de France. The British second-class cruiser Indefatigable is on her way from Trinidad to St. Vincent with stores for the relief of the sufferers there.

Fort de France Threatened.

It is reported here that Fort de France, Martinique, is threatened. Great tension prevails everywhere throughout the West Indies.

The work of relief is progressing here on the most extensive scale possible, but in anticipation of disturbances the treasury building and the warehouses are guarded by troops.

The latest reports received here showed that lava continues to pour down the slopes of the mountain, slowly engulfing the whole north side of the island, while fresh crevasses are continually opening.

A dispatch just received here from the island of Dominica, B. W. I., says a man who has just returned from the boiling lake district of the island went within 100 yards of the lake and found that the water had disappeared, and that from a vent ten feet in diameter in the center was a rising column of steam to a height of 30 feet before spreading into the atmosphere. That district, otherwise, was apparently unchanged, but the sulphur gases were very strong.

DREAD SPECTACLE OF OLD SOUFRIERE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

KINGSTON, ISLAND OF ST. VINCENT, B. W. I., Saturday, May 10.—After numerous earthquakes during the preceding fortnight, accompanied by subterranean noises in the direction of the Soufriere volcano, in the northwestern part of the island, a loud explosion from the crater occurred last Monday and the water in the crater lake ascended in a stupendous cloud of steam, exploding heavily.

The noises grew louder continually till Wednesday morning, when the old crater, three miles in circumference, and the new crater, formed by the last eruption, belched smoke and stones, forcing the residents of Wallibou and Richmond valley, beneath the volcano, to flee to Chateau Belair for refuge. The thunderous noises, which were continually increasing, were heard in neighboring islands 200 miles away.

At midday the craters ejected enormous columns of steamy vapor, rising majestically eight miles high and expanding into wonderful shapes, resembling enormous cauliflowers, gigantic wheels and beautiful flower forms, all streaked up and down and crosswise with vivid flashes of lightning, awing the beholder and impressing the mind with fear. The mountain labored to rid itself of a mass of molten lava, which later flowed over in six streams down the side of the volcano, and the great noises following united in one continuous roar all evening, through the night to Thursday morning, accompanied by black rain, falling dust and other matter, attended by midnight darkness all Wednesday, creating feelings of fear and anxious suspense.

On the morning of Friday there was a fresh eruption and ejections of fiery matter, more dust covering the island, in some places two feet deep. The crater is still active as this dispatch is sent and great loss of life is believed to have occurred.

The lava has destroyed several districts with their live stock. People are fleeing to this town, streams are dried up and in many places a food and water famine is threatened. The government is feeding numbers of sufferers.

Great physical changes have taken place in the neighborhood of Soufriere. Several districts have not yet been heard from and the scene of the eruption is unapproachable. Every hour brings sadder news. The nurses and doctors are overworked.

As a result of the disaster on this island all business has been suspended for three days. The public mind is still unsettled, fearing further disaster.

Among the deaths are whole families whose corpses are, in several places, still lying unburied. The dead will be interred in trenches.

VOLCANO BOMBARDS ST. VINCENT ISLAND

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1902, by the New York Herald Co.)

CASTRIES, ST. LUCIA, W. I., May 11.—St. Vincent is still threatened with the destruction which fell upon St. Pierre. The Soufriere volcano is still in violent eruption. Terrific detonations follow one another so closely that they form one incessant rumble.

Great columns of steam, smoke and ashes shoot into the air so high that no eye can see where they break. These are lighted up by tongues of flame that frequently spread out over the country, carrying death to every living thing.

For many miles to the southward of the Soufriere the country is under constant bombardment. Large stones fall from the darkened sides, adding to the destruction worked by the heat and clouds of ashes.

It is impossible to estimate the loss of life, but it is already so great as to be appalling, and the death list is certainly increasing. Early reports placed the loss of life in St. Vincent at more than 400.

COUNCILS MAY IMPOSE TAX ON CORPORATIONS

Reform Members Determined to Stand by Campaign Pledges.

SCRANTON PLAN GROWS IN FAVOR

J. N. Pew Willing to Have New Company Taxed If Others Are.

GROSS RECEIPTS TO BE MADE THE BASIS

Ordinances Will Be General, Affecting All Corporations of a Public Nature—New Concerns Willing to Pay Tax and Are to Be Invited.

Pittsburgh will follow the example of Scranton and levy a general tax upon all corporations of a public character doing business in this city. Reform councilmen say that the application of the City Electric Company for franchises from councils has made this course imperative. The ordinance of the City Electric Company will be introduced in common council tonight by Councilman W. S. Woods of the Twenty-second ward.

The reform members of councils are pledged by the platform of the Citizens party, upon which they were elected last February, to demand a tax from all corporations "which have been granted or which in the future receive franchises from the city." Charles S. Crawford, president of common council, and Dr. George W. McNeil, chairman of the corporations committee, declare that this pledge will be kept by the reform members.

The City Electric Company offers to pay any tax that the councils may levy upon it and its competitors, but asserts that councils has no right to tax it and leave untaxed its competitors, although other companies may be already established in business.

Willing to Pay Taxes.

The ordinance of the City Electric Company, which will be presented tonight, contains the following clause relating to the question of compensation: "This ordinance is subject to the provisions of any valid ordinance that may hereafter be passed by councils levying a tax upon all such corporations in the heat, light and power business."

Dr. George W. McNeil, chairman of the corporations committee, said yesterday: "Councils will take up the question of corporation tax soon, as we cannot levy a tax upon one concern and exempt another in the same business from taxation. I am in favor of taxing the gross receipts instead of the net receipts, and I am also in favor of limiting the life of a franchise."

According to the statements of other reform members Pittsburgh councils will follow along the lines of the Scranton councils, which have taxed traction, water, electric light, heat and power and gas companies. Scranton's tax has been levied upon the gross receipts of the concerns.

Competition Invited.

It is the declared aim of the Pittsburgh reformers to take down the bars and invite all corporations who wish to pay the tax demanded to enter the city. It is believed that this system will open up the way to competition and benefit the general public.

J. N. Pew, president and chief promoter of the City Electric Company, stated yesterday that his company was willing to submit to any conditions which councils might impose, providing the City Electric Company is put upon an equal footing with its competitors. He said:

"No corporation can operate and pay a tax different from its competitors and no new enterprise can be successfully started by handicapping it in such a manner."

"The City Electric Company should be placed on an equal footing with its competitors. If councils see fit to pass the ordinance of the City Electric Company it ought to be done for the interest of the general public, and in such a manner that the general public would get the benefit of the competition."

The franchise tax plank in the Citizens platform declares in favor of "A 3 per cent tax on the gross receipts during the first five years of a corporation, and Yachting Circles Eager to Make the Trip to See the Most Extraordinary Spectacle of Modern Times.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, May 11.—The steam yacht Aquilo, belonging to William P. Eno of New York, is now on her way with her owner and a large party of guests bound for Martinique and St. Vincent to witness the volcanic eruptions, having left this port on Saturday afternoon. The indications are that she will be followed by a number of larger steam yachts belonging to this port, including some of those now out of commission.

At the New York Yacht club today several of the guests discussed the feasibility of making the trip at once. Of the big sea-going yachts capable of making the voyage that are now out of commission it was believed work would be commenced on more than one tomorrow to get them into readiness for a trip to the West Indies.

Everybody who discussed the subject expressed a desire to make the trip to witness one of the most extraordinary spectacles of recent times.

Even should the eruptions have ceased by the time Martinique and St. Vincent have been reached, the sights to be seen there would, it was thought, well repay anybody for the trip.

OTHER TOWNS ANNIHILATED BESIDE DOOMED ST. PIERRE.

One Contained a Population of 6,000 and Another of 4,000. 30,000 Corpses in the Principal City Alone.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

FORT DE FRANCE, May 11.—A commission was appointed by the governor to investigate the outbreak, and it returned a reassuring report on Wednesday evening; but about 8 o'clock on Thursday morning a shower of fire rushed down upon St. Pierre and the coast from Le Carbet, which had a population of 6,000, to Le Precheur, which had a population of 4,000, burning up everything in its path.

St. Pierre at that time was an absolute, smoking waste, concealing 30,000 corpses, whose rapid decomposition in some cases required instantly completing their cremation, which was only partially accomplished by the lava.

The inhabitants of Fort de France were panic-stricken on the morning of the disaster, when the sky suddenly blackened until it was as dark as at midnight.

The 450 survivors who were brought here yesterday from the vicinity of St. Pierre by the French cable repair ship Pouyer Guertier, came from the town of Le Precheur, where, surrounded on all sides by flowing lava, they were nearly roasted to death and expected momentarily to be engulfed.

thereafter 5 per cent during the life of the franchise."

Many reform councilmen say that a tax of 3 or 5 per cent on the gross receipts would be exorbitant, and express the opinion that the figures in the Citizens party platform will be modified.

The promoters of the City Electric Company are confident their ordinance will pass councils. The corporations committee have been canvassed and the majority of the members have expressed themselves in favor of it.

Seventeen years ago the Peoples Gas Company was refused a franchise by the Pittsburgh councils. The case was carried to the supreme court of the state, which decided in favor of the Peoples Gas Company by a perpetual injunction, which the supreme court granted the company against the city, and it is operating today without a franchise.

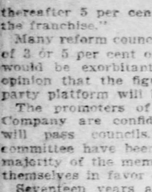
Crawford Favors Tax.

C. S. Crawford, president of common councils, yesterday stated his position on the subject of taxing local corporations as follows:

"I am satisfied," said he, "that every man elected to councils by the Citizens party will be true to his pledge. Among other things, we agree that franchises should not be granted without proper compensation to the city. I understand that the City Electric Company wants certain privileges. I have not seen a copy of the proposed ordinance and do not know whether the corporation offers to pay for the franchises. There will have to be an agreement of this kind before the ordinances can be passed.

"Just what would be a proper compensation I am not ready to state. I am of the opinion that councils should adopt some sort of scale. There are franchises that are more valuable than others. To my mind a company should pay more for utilizing a street like Fifth avenue than one of the thoroughfares on Mt. Washington. In a case where an electric company wants privileges covering the entire city, some percentage of the gross or net receipts would probably be the proper compensation to demand. I am also in favor of limiting the life of a franchise to a reasonable term of years."

THE WEATHER.



Warner.

The weather man's prophecy that there would be showers yesterday took thousands of people to the parks and gave the Pittsburgh Railways Company so much to do that the officials were obliged to hunt around for extra men to help in handling the crowds. If any persons took the prophecy seriously and stayed in the house, they missed enjoying an agreeable day with plenty of sunshine, balmy air, and no signs of the promised rain. The prediction for today contains no mention of dampness. Fair weather and a warmer temperature is the forecast. If a few clouds appear, the prediction need not be discredited.

Many Diners at Victoria.

The hundreds who yesterday took dinner at the Hotel Victoria can attest to the excellence of the menu and the care with which they were served. When Manager F. C. Smith advertised the menu he naturally expected to entertain many guests, but he was surprised at the number who came. On this account the service may have seemed slow to some, but beginning today there will be an increase in the number of waiters and the service both daily and Sunday will be as prompt as is consistent with care.

Flames are sweeping the entire northern end of St. Vincent. A great area has been isolated by a flow of lava which has reached across the island. The clouds of smoke overcast the skies in every direction and ships dare not venture near the coast.

Kingston is reported as safe as this morning by a steamer that just arrived here, though pebbles and ashes fall without ceasing, keeping the inhabitants indoors.

GUATEMALA COFFEE RANCHES RUINED

Famine Threatens the People of Guatemala as Well as Those of the Lesser Antilles.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—Further particulars of the earthquake in Guatemala on April 18 were received here today in a letter from E. K. Pearse, special agent of the Kosmos steamship line at Guatemala. The letter says public subscriptions have been started by the Guatemala government for the relief of the homeless.

"It is feared," says Mr. Pearse, "that the loss of life was very large, but it will be impossible to form any idea of the number of deaths until the ruins shall have been cleared away. The city of Ocos has been almost knocked to pieces, the coffee warehouse, agency house, hotel and other structures being destroyed. It is impossible for me to convey any clear idea of the true state of affairs. There is hardly a coffee ranch of any description that has escaped. Machine houses are down and heavy losses have been incurred on every hand.

"The city of Quezaltenamo is being practically abandoned, and it has been necessary to send in thousands of Indians from all parts with provisions, as the survivors are really starving. Several prominent Germans are among the dead."

KING EDWARD TAKING PROFOUND INTEREST

LONDON, May 11.—King Edward is deeply concerned about the terrible news from the West Indies. He has ordered that all dispatches the government receives on the subject be immediately sent to Buckingham palace by special messenger, and has intimated his desire to contribute toward any fund which may be raised for the relief of the sufferers. It is understood that the government is waiting for more definite news of the St. Vincent disaster before asking the lord mayor of London to open a fund at the Mansion house, but it is certain this will be speedily done.

A dispatch to the Times from St. Thomas, D. W. I., says St. Pierre was destroyed in the twinkling of an eye.

Four small boats loaded with refugees from Grand riviere, Martinique, have arrived at Dominica in a pitiable condition. They report that six other boats left that village at the same time. It is not known what became of them.

Sir Robert Llewellyn, governor of the Windward islands, has cabled to the colonial office from St. Lucia as follows:

"In continuation of my last telegram, my intention was to go to St. Vincent in a small coasting steamer; but I was strongly advised not to attempt the trip, as the steamer narrowly escaped being wrecked yesterday, and as the weather was looking very bad in that direction. The island is invisible, owing to a dense black fog, cinders and sand. I am very anxiously awaiting the arrival of warships."

The colonial office announced today that in addition to the British cruiser Indefatigable, ordered to St. Vincent from Trinidad, the British cruiser Pallas has been ordered to St. Vincent from Jamaica with supplies for the sufferers on St. Vincent.

The Standard, in an editorial this morning, says: "It is only too clear that the area affected is larger than known at first. If Dominica and St. Lucia have not suffered greatly, there is reason to fear that their turn may come; nor is it by any means certain that corresponding convulsions have not occurred, or may not soon follow, on the main land of Central and South America. In the presence of such forces man is helpless, and we can only prepare to relieve the survivors as speedily as possible. The United States has set us an honorable example."

GAZETTE TO FORWARD AID TO SUFFERERS

Will Receive Contributions Until Chamber of Commerce Votes Action in Matter.

There have been many inquiries as to what steps Pittsburgh, in conjunction with other cities in the United States, will take for the relief of the survivors of the St. Pierre disaster and the families of those stricken by the terrible calamity. For the benefit of those who wish to contribute to the relief fund The Gazette will receive and forward promptly all donations to the proper destination, pending action by the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce, which is expected to adopt measures for the relief of the Martinique sufferers. Col. A. J. Logan, president of the chamber of commerce, said last night: "As soon as it becomes evident that there is necessity for outside aid, the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce will certainly do its part. I have been away but will look into the matter tomorrow."

A meeting of the chamber may be called today or tomorrow and an appeal issued to the public. For prosperity and charity, Pittsburgh stands in the lead among the cities of the country, and it is expected that the people will respond generously to a call for aid.

GRATITUDE TO AMERICA.

Voting of $100,000 Relief by the Senate Touches France's Heart.

PARIS, May 12.—The Gaulois, referring to the vote of $100,000 by the United States senate for the aid of the Martinique sufferers and the sending of an American cruiser to the island, says:

"Of all friendly manifestations, the most brilliant and the most touching are certainly those of the United States. The great people beyond the ocean have again proved that feelings of humanity and generosity are among the noble qualities upon which they pride themselves. This fine example of human solidarity touches us profoundly, and we are happy to note it in this not to be forgotten circumstance."

PARIS INDIFFERENT.

Too Many Other Things to Think of a Little Thing Like the Destruction of Half a Colony.

PARIS, May 12.—Even now, when fuller details of the Martinique disaster are arriving, Parisians show few outward signs of interest in the affair. From the appearance of the streets, where the people are thronging the cafes and other places of public resort, it would never be supposed that half of one of France's most flourishing colonies had been wiped out of existence. The only signs of public mourning are the half-masted flags over the government buildings. The people present their usual Sunday holiday-making appearance.

The Temps, in an editorial this morning, remarks that so many matters of public interest have occurred this week—railroad accidents, the disaster at Martinique, a huge swindling case and the elections, that they neutralize one another, while had they come singly each one would have monopolized the public mind.

ERUPTION IN ALASKA.

Ashes From an Unknown Volcano, Accompanied by Earthquakes, Covering Aleutian Islands.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—The Alaska Commercial Company has received from its agent at Unalaska, Aleutian islands, a letter dated April 10, giving information of volcanic disturbances there. The letter says:

"Unalaska has been shaken by earthquakes lately and on several occasions the ground was covered with fine ashes from some volcano. Reports reach us from Unimak that with every westerly wind their village is covered with some kind of ashes, indicating that some western volcano is in action."

Relief Measures in New York.

NEW YORK, May 11.—It was announced tonight that a meeting of the members of the chamber of commerce will be held Wednesday at which action will be taken looking toward the relief of the survivors of the calamity that has swept St. Pierre and surrounding localities. Morris K. Jesup will preside and it is the intention to name a committee to solicit subscriptions.

French Flagship to Sail.

NEW ORLEANS, May 11.—The French flagship Tage, with Admiral Servan in command, will leave here at daybreak for Martinique. The admiral issued a quick call for contributions and will take along about $4,000 in cash, as well as a great deal of provisions and clothing furnished by Gov. Heard, Mayor Capdeville and the public in general.

HAS LITTLE HOPE FOR PEACE IN SOUTH AFRICA

The London Times Fears That Nothing Will Come of the Negotiations.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, May 12.—The Times this morning relates the course of the South African peace negotiations, and in an editorial on this matter is not hopeful that peace will be the outcome of such negotiations and fears that the result of the election of a member of parliament for Bury Lancashire will influence the Boers to further resistance.

The progress of negotiations follows: On the receipt of the Dutch correspondence intimating that Great Britain was ready to listen to proposals from the Boers in the field Acting President of the Transvaal Schalkburger came to the British lines and asked permission to consult with Mr. Steyn, former president of the Orange Free State. This led to the Boer delegates going to Pretoria. Their first proposal to Lord Kitchener and Lord Milner, the British high commissioner in South Africa, was that the republics should merely concede all the demands made by Great Britain regarding the franchise, etc., before the war.

The British government, in reply, referred them to the Middleburg conference as the maximum of possible concessions and refused permission to the Boers to consult their friends in Europe. Eventually, while refusing an armistice, Lord Kitchener undertook not to molest the burghers while they were actually holding meetings with the commandos to authorize the leaders to negotiate on the basis of the surrender of independence, but they were told it was useless to return to Pretoria without being armed with full powers to negotiate.

Mr. Schalkburger assented to this, but Mr. Steyn's acquiescence seemed doubtful.

Mail advices received from Pretoria continues the Times, declare that Lords Kitchener and Milner promised generous compensation for burned farms, raised no difficulty in regard to the pardon of banished leaders and gave assurances that the question of amnesty for rebels did not present insuperable difficulties.

WORK FOR THE NEW HOSPITAL TO BE GIN

President Dolan of the Miners' Organization Will Confer With Other Labor Leaders.

At the convention of representatives of all labor organizations of the Pittsburgh district, held in Old City hall yesterday to arrange for the organization for the next Labor day demonstration, Chairman Patrick Dolan of the miners introduced the question of a workingman's hospital, to which Andrew Carnegie had expressed a willingness to contribute. There was opposition from some few delegates, although the motive for this was not disclosed.

Chairman Dolan, M. O'Sullivan of the sheet metal workers, Joseph L. Evans, former worthy foreman of the Knights of Labor; William Dodds and Uriah Bellingham of the miners and other delegates urged that immediate action be taken. The result was that Chairman Dolan was voted power to confer with the heads of Pittsburgh labor organizations and arrange for a committee, probably of five, to go ahead with the project.

The convention, with 248 delegates, three from each local and central organization, organized as follows: George W. Miller, clerk of courts and member of local No. 114 of the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors, and chairman of the general executive committee for the Pittsburgh convention of the brotherhood in 1903, was elected chairman, receiving 100 votes against 88 for A. M. Swartz of the carpenters.

Other officers elected were: M. O'Sullivan, vice president; John Fernan, secretary; Frank Griggs, assistant secretary, and William Dodds, treasurer.

GUTHRIE, O. T., May 11.—From information given out here today it is ascertained that the Kansas City Southern railway, together with Henry C. Frick of Pittsburgh, Pa., is back of the Fort Smith & Western railroad now being built from Fort Smith, Ark., to Guthrie, and that the final terminus will be Denver, Col.

Already the survey is being pushed toward Denver from Guthrie, and contractors have received information from Mr. Frick that he will be personally responsible for the construction of the road and to rush the work.

Mr. Frick could not be seen last evening in regard to this telegram.

RABBI CRITICISED.

Braddock Pastor Takes Exception to J. Leonard Levy's Recent Address.

The Rev. William G. Reagle of the First Braddock Presbyterian church caused some comment yesterday evening by his sermon in which he denounced Rabbi J. Leonard Levy's address on "Twentieth Century Judaism," which Rabbi Levy delivered in Braddock last week.

Mr. Reagle, after commenting on the remark by Dr. Levy: "We are not far apart from the modern Christians. You follow Jesus and we Jehovah," said that there was a great difference between Christianity and Judaism. He said that Dr. Levy had a mechanical conception of God, and spoke of three distinct characteristics wherein the Christian worshipers differ from the Jews, namely: "First, the incarnation of the Son of God; second, the atonement, and thirdly, the regenerating power of the grace of God. They are all at variance with modern Jewish rationalism."

DEATH CLAIMING THOSE RESCUED BY THE SUCHET

Of the Thirty Living Persons Picked Up by the Cruiser, Nine Are No More.

PELEE YET THREATENING

French Officials Take Quick Measures of Relief—Lava Extending Over the Entire Northern Portion of the Island.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Paris, May 11.—The minister of marine, M. de Lanessan, today received a cable dispatch from the commander of the French cruiser Suchet, dated Fort de France, Martinique, saying that he conducted a search at St. Pierre yesterday. The captain reports that the town is now a mere heap of smoking ruins under which the victims of the catastrophe are buried. The Suchet was able to convey some of the inhabitants of Le Precheur to Fort de France, but could not reach the northernmost part of the island on account of the dense rain of ashes.

The captain of the Suchet further reported that the Mont Pelee volcano still had a threatening aspect yesterday evening. Subterranean rumblings were still heard, flashes of flame frequently belched from the volcano and stones were thrown out with immense force.

A dispatch received here today from Fort de France, Martinique, says: "All the hills surrounding Le Carbet and Le Precheur, near St. Pierre, are covered with refugees to the number of about 5,000, who are being taken away gradually. Meanwhile provisions are being conveyed to them.

Nine of the Rescued Die.

"Of the 30 persons who were originally rescued by the French cruiser Suchet the majority were fearfully burned and nine died while on their way to the hospital. The corpses which are heaped in the ruins of St. Pierre are not only completely naked but are frightfully mutilated."

A dispatch received at the colonial office here today from Fort de France says there is no doubt that Gov. Mouttet and the commander of the troops at St. Pierre, Col. Dain, are dead. Other dispatches confirm the reports that the American and British consuls and their families perished.

M. Bloch, inspector of finance, and M. Labarthe, the colonial minister's secretary, who have been dispatched by the government to Martinique, sailed from Brest today on board the French cruiser Assas, which carries money, provisions and other stores for the relief of the Martinique sufferers.

A French cable official who went to St. Pierre reports that the company's office has been burned to ashes and that there is no trace of his staff. This official adds that the cremation of the bodies of the victims has begun and that the cable steamer Pouyer Quertier is proceeding to repair the northern cable.

Lava Continues to Spread.

The waves of lava are reported to be still flowing northward. They have extended even to Le Carbet.

The candidates for election to the French chamber of deputies who perished at St. Pierre were MM. Percin and Le Clere.

The colonial minister has organized a relief distribution committee consisting of himself and M. Decrais, former colonial minister, the colonial members of the chamber of deputies, the colonial senators and a number of commercial men. The first meeting of this committee will occur Tuesday.

The British ambassador, Sir Edmund J. Monson, called at the Elysee palace this afternoon and communicated to President Loubet personally the sympathy of King Edward.

The Temps today, referring to the destruction at St. Pierre, says: "We believe, from the information received here from the island of Martinique, that the disaster surpasses all that imagination can conceive. The whole northwestern portion of the island is laid waste. Three large communities, exclusive of St. Pierre, have been destroyed. The victims comprise two candidates for today's ballotage for members of the chamber of deputies."

THE PHILIPPINE ISSUE.

A Vote May Be Taken by the Senate on the Bill This Week, at Any Rate Within Two Weeks.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—Senator Rawlins, senior Democratic member of the senate committee on the Philippines, today expressed the opinion that a vote could be reached on the Philippine government bill toward the end of the present week. Other members of the committee think the date of the vote may be postponed until some time next week, but none of them place the vote later than the 24th inst., two weeks hence. They say that whenever the debate is exhausted they will agree to vote, but that they object to naming a day for a vote until they are quite certain that there is nothing more to say pertinent to the subject.

Senator Foraker has given notice of a speech on the Philippine subject on Monday, and Senator Stewart will speak Tuesday, both in support of the pending bill. Senator Spooner also probably will be heard on the bill near the end of the week. Among the opponents of the bill still to be heard are Senators Clay and Money.

Senator Lodge has given notice that on Tuesday he will move to meet at 11 o'clock each day to facilitate consideration of the Philippine bill.

Special orders in the house this week include the bill to authorize the issue of passports to residents of our insular possessions; the Adams bill for the reorganization of the consular service, and a day for the consideration of claims.

THIS COUNTRY TO TAKE QUICK STEPS FOR AID

Final Passage of Relief Bill Today Will Find War Department Ready.

FRENCH WILL ACQUIESCE

Supplies to Be Purchased, Perhaps in Porto Rico, and Shipped at Once to St. Pierre — One Democrat on Record Against It.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., May 11.—In anticipation of the passage by the house of the senate bill appropriating $100,000 for the relief of the sufferers from the eruption which has devastated Martinique, the war department will take immediate action for the purchase and transportation of supplies to the distressed islanders.

It is the expectation of the state department that Consul Ayme, who left Guadeloupe tonight for Martinique, will return tomorrow to his post, and that it will be advised by tomorrow night of the extent of the injuries inflicted by the earthquake and the character of relief that should be forwarded. As soon as this information is at hand Brig.-Gen. Weston, commissary general, will be directed to collect stores at New York. They will be immediately loaded on an army transport, or more probably on the Dixie, a naval training ship, which Secretary Moody was informed today would be ready to sail on Tuesday. As food probably is the first need of the people, the Dixie will be hurried with it to Martinique. The transport Sedgwick, which is at New York, will, if she can be gotten in condition in time, convey clothes, lumber and such other supplies as the information received by the state department may show to be necessary.

French Consent Expected.

Of course, this action is contingent upon the assent of France, but that government undoubtedly will gracefully accept the charity of the United States. M. Cambon, the French ambassador, in his statement yesterday said that as supplies from this country could reach the island more quickly than from France undoubtedly the people of the French republic would appreciate any relief that this country would afford. At the same time Secretary Hay will recognize the sovereignty of France by notifying the Paris authorities through Ambassador Porter of the readiness of this government to extend relief to Martinique.

France's acceptance being merely a matter of form, the work of shipping supplies will not for a moment be interrupted. Officers of the army and navy will be detailed to supervise the distribution of relief, and their instructions will be stringent to co-operate in every way with the French authorities. If considered desirable the supplies will be turned over to the acting governor of Martinique. There is not to be the slightest friction between the American and French authorities, if it can be avoided under the instructions which will be issued by the war and navy departments.

It was suggested today that the transportation of relief might be more expeditiously effected by using San Juan, Porto Rico, as the base. Gov. Hunt could send such supplies from Porto Rico as could be gathered there, and then could follow supplies purchased in this country.

May Help to Preserve Order.

The preservation of order in Martinique probably will be a matter of some importance. The French man-o'-war Suchet, which is at Fort de France, undoubtedly will land officers and men should their presence be required. The cruiser Cincinnati, which is expected to sail today from Santo Domingo, will arrive at Fort de France by Tuesday night, and Commander McLean will tender the use of parties from his ship if the French are unable to prevent lawlessness. The men sent ashore will respect the sovereignty of France and will co-operate in every way possible with the French guards. There are warships fiving the British and Danish flags in the waters of Martinique, and they, too, will aid in every way, it is believed here, in preserving order and in giving such relief as is possible to the people who are actually in need.

In view of the distress which exists in St. Vincent, where an eruption of Souffriere volcano is in progress, an effort may be made by the state department to have the bill for the relief of Martinique so amended that it will enable the dispatch of supplies to the British island as well. This will be done in order to prevent any legal technicalities being raised by accounting officers.

One Man Opposes Relief.

Representative Dorsey W. Shackelford, Democrat, of Jefferson City, Mo., has leaped to the front as the only member of congress who opposes relief to the stricken sufferers of the French West Indian Islands. While Representative Underwood of Alabama yesterday objected to the consideration of the Fairbanks resolution appropriating $100,000 to be used in relieving distress in Martinique, he placed himself on record in favor of the resolution should the reports be confirmed; but Mr. Shackelford, during the debate, placed himself on record in opposition when he said:

"Are these people not French subjects and on French territory and is not the republic of France able to take care of her own sufferers?"

In reply to this Representative Payne of New York said: "Probably France is able, but still it is a neighborly act. I do not think it improper, dealing with a friendly power, to offer this aid."

In discussing the subject today Mr. Shackelford justified his unsympathetic suggestion in this way:

"I am opposed to this style of philanthropy with the money of the taxpayers of the United States. If we are anxious to show our sympathy with suffering people I might suggest where we could expend $100,000 to a better advantage than in the French islands.

Suggests Sending It to the Boers.

"I could use that amount down in South Africa for the Boers, or, for that matter, I could use it nearer home. Down in my district the farmers are suffering from the drought of last year, and there are other places in this country where we can better exercise our generosity with the people's money than sending it down to Martinique. If all the people of that island are dead, as reported, our money will do the dead ones no good. I am not in favor of helping them, anyhow.

"I think we are disposed to be too generous in voting away the money of the taxpayers on purely sentimental grounds. In this instance I do not know that the French have asked for any assistance from foreign powers. It is a premature action on our part. It is like one man offering to support another man's family, when the man sought to be relieved is willing and able to provide for his own folks. It is so easy for some men to rush to the front and claim the credit for doing a charitable act with other people's money. I am opposed to rushing into the United States treasury to relieve Frenchmen."

The state department received a cablegram today from United States Consul Ayme at Guadaloupe stating that he would leave for Martinique tonight.

The navy department is without information today from the cruiser Cincinnati, whose commander was directed to proceed from Santo Domingo to Martinique to render such aid as was possible, nor has anything been heard from the Potomac, which was at San Juan, and whose commander was given authority to go to the stricken island.

During the day Secretary Moody was informed that the Dixie, now at New York, would be ready for sea by Tuesday morning. This report was in answer to orders that she be prepared for sea as soon as possible, and in the event that this government undertakes to render assistance to the islanders she will be utilized to carry provisions and other supplies to the people.

President Roosevelt has sent a dispatch to President Loubet of France expressing the regret of this nation over the catastrophe.

BRIDGE WORKERS HAVE DECIDED TO END STRIKE

They Accepted the Terms of the American Bridge Co. Yesterday.

DECISION IS IMPORTANT

The Action of the Structural Iron Men Will Practically Terminate Troubles of Building Trades in This District—Leaders' Opinions.

The strike of the bridge and structural iron workers of the Pittsburgh district was practically declared off yesterday. At a special meeting of the Pittsburgh organization yesterday it was voted to accept the last proposition of the American Bridge Company, which was 47½ cents the hour, an eight-hour system and other rules the same as the last agreement.

This will have an important bearing on all strikes of the building trades. Practically all of the bridge and structural iron workers have been idle since May 1. Other trades were awaiting their settlement. The decision to settle at the terms of the American Bridge Company, which provide an advance to the men of 7½ cents an hour, will mean that all other employers will meet the settlement terms.

Strike leaders of the carpenters said yesterday that their nearly unanimous decision to stand for the advanced wage of $3 50 for the day has led to most of the employers giving in. A majority of the employes in the planing mills remain idle. Nearly all bricklayers are working at the advanced wage, according to their leaders. M. O'Sullivan, leader of the sheet metal workers, said yesterday that about half of the men are at work at the advanced wage. A meeting of the master tinners will be held today and final settlement of the strike is expected. J. J. Zimmer of the electric wiremen said yesterday that 14 of the employers had met the advanced wage, putting 90 out of the 200 men at work. President F. H. Smith of the portable and hoisting engineers said that a third of the men are working under the advanced wage scale.

Boy Wounds Playmate and Kills Himself; Railroad Officials Arrested on Cowcatcher

SHOT PLAYMATE; KILLED HIMSELF

A Somerset Boy Accidentally Wounded Companion and Took His Own Life.

HE USED A FLOBERT RIFLE

SOMERSET, PA., May 11.—Dewees McKelvey, aged 11 years, a son of one of the most prominent families of Somerset, lies dead at his home, and another boy named Bricker, aged 15, is seriously injured as the result of a tragedy which occurred here at 7:30 this evening.

The two boys were out with a flobert rifle shooting at birds and other objects. McKelvey had the gun and in some way is was accidentally discharged, the bullet striking young Bricker in the mouth, ploughing its way clear through the neck and coming out at the back of the neck.

McKelvey, seeing this, ran to his home. He hastened upstairs with the gun, placed the muzzle to his forehead and discharged the weapon. He was found lying on the floor, the gun beside him. Physicians were quickly summoned, but at 9 o'clock he died.

While Bricker's wound is serious it will probably not prove fatal.

GERMANS AROUSED.

The Central Bund of Western Pennsylvania Will Aid the Latrobe Froshian Singing Society.

The executive board of the German-American Central bund of Western Pennsylvania held a meeting yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Central Turner hall, Forbes street, to consider what political position they would take in the coming state campaign, and to take action in regard to the prosecutions recently entered against the seven members of the Froshinn Singing society of Latrobe for alleged selling of liquor without a license in their club rooms.

After the usual routine business had been disposed of a resolution was introduced, which was passed after considerable discussion, by which it was decided first to submit to the executive board of the state Central bund, a plan arranged by Henry Arnold, president of the Central bund of Western Pennsylvania, outlining the position which it is deemed advisable for the society to take in the matter, and then to submit it to the annual state convention to be held at Reading in the near future. The particulars of this plan, however, were not made public.

In regard to the Latrobe matter, a resolution was passed denouncing the arrest of the members of the Latrobe Froshinn Singing society, and declaring that the Central bund of Western Pennsylvania would do everything in its power to assist the accused association and each and every individual member.

Henry Arnold, the president of the Central bund, was officially designated, upon motion, to represent the society at the banquet of the German press to be held in the parlors of the Allegheny Turner association in Canal street on Wednesday evening, May 14.

Both the outer door and door to the inside corridor were locked. Sheriff Payne's little daughter was alone in the jail at the time. Bloodhounds are on the trail of the fugitives.

NOT JOHN MOCK.

Owner of That Name Appeared at Morgue and Denied That He Was Dead.

The body found in the Junction railroad tunnel at Thirty-third street about 5 o'clock Saturday evening, which was thought to be that of John Mock, was found to be some person else, as Mock appeared at the morgue alive and well and discredited the rumors of his death.

There is absolutely no clue to the identity of the dead man. He appeared to be about 30 years of age; was well dressed in a black suit of clothes and light blue and white striped shirt; was about 5 feet 10 inches tall; weighed about 165 pounds, and had brown hair, rather long, and a sandy moustache.

In his pockets were found a silver watch, without any name, and $19 10 in money, in a pay envelope which was marked to contain $19 30. It is supposed that, as the man had been run over just about the middle, the money may have dropped out of his pockets. It is thought that possibly he was employed in that vicinity and was on his way home when killed.

GUN CAUSED TROUBLE.

A Soho Pole Arrested for Practicing Marksmanship in Highland Park.

John Golski, a Soho Pole, went out to see the animals at the Highland park zoo yesterday afternoon. Fearing that he might run across a stray lion or tiger which had escaped from its cage he took along with him his bright new 38-caliber revolver.

Golski did not meet any ferocious animals in his travels about the zoo that were not behind steel bars, and turned homeward without having a chance to use his gun. In passing the band stand he thought he would try his marksmanship and drawing the revolver he fired half a dozen bullets into the stand.

The shots attracted a big crowd which came running to the scene from all parts of the park, and among them Lieut. Andrew Frees of the park police, who placed the astonished Pole under arrest. He was sent to the East End police station to answer charges of carrying concealed weapons and violating a city ordinance.

TOOK OFFICIALS INTO CUSTODY

WERE INSPECTING P. & L. E.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BEAVER FALLS, PA., May 11.—When the Cleveland "flyer" on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, due here at 6:49, dashed through Wampum, the telegraph operator caught a glimpse of two men riding on the pilot of the engine. Instantly he wired the agent at this place: "Two drunken hobos stealing ride on engine of flyer." The agent here telephoned to police headquarters for an officer. Policeman Cowan responded and when the train pulled in at the station he was on hand. There were the two men sitting quietly on the cowcatcher, both being well dressed and apparently sober.

The officer stepped up and took both men off the engine. Neither made any resistance and were being walked off to the lockup when the engineer, jumping down from his cab, yelled:

"Hold on, officer, do you know who you've got?"

"I've got the men I came for," was the reply.

"Well, you can let them go again, for they are all right. Both are officials and had a right on the pilot," said the engineer.

The policeman was loathe to release them, but the conductor hurried up, the station agent ran out of his office, the men arrested pulled out their cards, and finally they convinced the officer that the whole affair was a mistake and he released the frightened officials.

One of them went back into a coach, the other climbed up into the cab of the locomotive. They had had enough of riding on the pilot of an engine through the Beaver valley.

The railroad officials here refuse to divulge the names of the two men, but it is said one is the chief engineer of the road and the other is the son or the vice president. They were returning to Pittsburgh after an official inspection of the road.

PRESIDENT-ELECT GREETED IN HAVANA

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

HAVANA, May 11.—At 7:37 o'clock this morning a large Cuban flag was hoisted over Morro castle here. This was the signal that the steamer Julia, with President-Elect Estrada Palma and his party on board, had been sighted and cheers went up from the thousands, who, on the shore opposite Morro castle, had patiently awaited the Julia's arrival since daybreak. The crowd cheered for the new president and for the flag, which was hoisted on the famous fortress for the first time.

It was a moment of exultation for the Cubans, and the fact that the stars and stripes floated from the customary flagstaff beside the Cuban flag over the castle did not lessen their enthusiasm.

When the smoke of the Julia was seen in the direction of Matanzas, the flag was hauled up. As it rose the bands stationed along the water front played the Cuban national hymn, steamers saluted and church bells were rung.

Two hours later, after the last of the great fleet of vessels that had gone out to escort the Julia to the harbor had returned past Morro castle, this flag was lowered and raised over the senate chamber.

There was continuous saluting as the Julia sailed between the rows of decorated tugs and barges, and there were cheers from the crowded wharves. The several warships in the harbor were also decorated. The stars and stripes floated over the wreck of the Maine.

The steam tug Dauntless, the old filibuster, was given the right of the line in the marine procession.

When he arrived at the wharf the president-elect was welcomed by Vice President Esteve in a brief speech. A pretty feature of the reception here was Senor Estrada Palma's welcome by 23 young Cuban women dressed in costumes representing the American republics.

From the wharf the president-elect was escorted to the palace by members of the rural guard. Gov.-Gen. Wood, his staff and the secretaries, received Senor Palma at the palace. From here the president-elect proceeded to the municipal council building, where Senor Zayas welcomed Senor Palma in behalf of the people of all classes and all political beliefs.

Replying, Senor Estrada Palma said that his reception was a gratifying experience, and, judging from what he had seen since his arrival in Cuba, the people were unanimous in support of the incoming government. This, he said, boded well for the republic. Gen. Wood accompanied Senor Estrada Palma to the residence of Gen. Maximo Gomez, where the president-elect will reside until his inauguration, May 20.

INSURGENTS CEASE ARMED RESISTANCE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MANILA, May 11.—Gen. Chaffee arrived this morning at Malabang, island of Mindanao, where he was met by Gen. Davis, the commander of the American forces in the island. Gens. Chaffee and Davis, with an escort, at once started to ride to Lake Lanao, in the interior, which they will reach tomorrow.

The American forces in Southern Luzon have been concentrated at several towns. This action is taken because armed insurgent resistence in the province has ceased.

RIOT AT A CIRCUS.

Mob Stoned Employes of Barnum & Bailey's Show During Performance in France.

BEZIERS, FRANCE, May 11.—Barnum & Bailey's circus was the cause of a serious riot here this afternoon. The crowd seeking admission to the performance was greater than the tent could accommodate and those who were unable to enter began stoning the circus employes, five of whom were injured. One had his skull fractured and will probably die.

The crowd numbered about 7,000. They cut the tent ropes and several thousand persons forced their way to the arena. The police were powerless to check them. Troops were called out and restored order, finally driving the rioters away.

The performance was concluded, but at its termination the tents were taken down and arrangements were made to start immediately for Carcassonne, the next place on the route. The circus had trouble, similar to that which occurred here, at Cette and Narbonne.

FRENCH MINISTRY GAINS AT POLLS

The Reballot for Deputies Results Favorably for the Government.

TWO CANDIDATES DIE ON DAY OF ELECTION

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARIS, May 11.—The Parisians in those municipal districts where reballoting was held today for the election of members to the chamber of deputies crowded early to the polls and voted quickly. The reports indicate that the reballot has been favorable to the government, as half the Ministerialists, including M. Leygues, the minister of public instruction; M. Brisson and Jules Siegfried, former minister of commerce, were elected.

M. Paschal Crousset, Ministerialist, a retiring deputy, who was re-elected in Paris, died of apoplexy this evening. Mr. Lorthiois, Liberal republican, who was elected at Lille, in the department Du Nord, died shortly before the polls closed.

All the Anti-Ministerialists in Algeria were defeated.

The only serious election disturbance reported occurred at Marseilles, where the quarters of the fusion committee were mobbed. Windows were smashed and pistols were discharged. Nobody was injured, but some arrests were made.

The voting was unusually heavy and there was much animation in some districts, especially in the twelfth, where the Nationalists concentrated their forces in an effort to defeat the re-election by reballot of M. Millerand, the minister of commerce. The Nationalists failed, as M. Millerand secured a small majority.

There was but one disturbance here. This occurred at a voting place in the Rue la Cordaire after the polls were closed. M. Thiebaud, a defeated Nationalist candidate, was injured.

Paris has elected 19 Ministerialists and 9 Anti-Ministerialists, the latter gaining three seats in the chamber. The deputies elected include M. Clovis Hugues, the poet, Socialist, while MM. Viviani and Allemane, Socialists, were defeated.

Mellor's Piano Sale

Substantial Reductions in Prices of High-Grade Instruments Caused By Building Operations

You know what to expect when Mellor's announce a special sale of pianos at sacrifice prices. You know it simply means bargains without parallel.

You know that Mellor's never do anything unless they are determined to do that thing better than anybody else has ever undertaken to do it.

Now prepare for a surprise.

Owing to the building of the Farmers Bank next door, and the consequent encroachment on the Mellor property, all the surplus stock will have to be sold immediately.

Prices are sacrificed all along the line and you need only come and look at these instruments to be convinced of the enormous reductions. Mellor's have the reputation for handling the best instruments in the world, and have built up that reputation by adhering rigidly to the highest standard in all details. Therefore, this announcement of a special sale is fraught with a significance that would be impossible with any dealer not having such pianos to offer.

A partial list of prices is appended, and the bargains enumerated are simply wonderful, but they are not one whit more remarkable than many others here. Any of them you can secure on easy terms of payment should you prefer not to pay cash.

The following makes are included in this sale: Steinway, Krakauer, Sterling, Ludwig, Cameron, Cambridge, Chickering and a half dozen others.

There are shop-worn pianos, pianos that have been rented, pianos in storage, specimen pianos sent for examination, etc.

Second-Hand Square Pianos from $25 up
Second-hand Uprights from $75 up
Shop-worn Pianos from $135 up
Specimen Pianos from $165 up
Brand new Pianos from $175 up

A good many people are naturally inclined to look askance at anything in the way of a reduction sale, because of the innumerable affairs of this sort that have no real interest for conservative buyers. But to those familiar with the methods of the Mellor establishment it is only necessary to remark that this sale is about to take place. Those in need of pianos will come—and they will buy.

In spite of the fact that none of these waists ever sold for less than $4.50, and many of them as high as $12, there will be one price only at this sale, and that is $1.90

On account of this extraordinary offering we are obliged to restrict the sale to one day—tomorrow (Tuesday) only. We are very emphatic on this point. Don't come today. Don't come on Wednesday. But come tomorrow (Tuesday) as early as you possibly can.

If you have been waiting for an opportunity to buy a silk waist, you won't wait any longer.

POSITIVELY NO MAIL ORDERS FILLED

It is often a matter of regret to us that we can't enable our out-of-town customers to share in these wonderful sales. But anyone can see that it is impossible to fill mail orders when a sale is restricted to a day or two. And as this sale is for Tuesday only, the filling of mail orders is out of the question.

Come—come early—tell your friends—and come prepared for the biggest surprise of your life.

The silk in many of these waists would cost you a great deal more by the yard than our price for the waist complete and ready to wear.

CURVED PLATE CAMERA PROVES GREAT SUCCESS

New Instrument Built by Dr. John A. Brashear Passes Wonderful Test.

85,000 STARS ON ONE PLATE

First Large Size Ever Made Takes in Over Six Times the Area Covered by the Flat Plate Now in General Use by Astronomers.

The new astronomical camera that has been under course of construction at the works of Prof. John A. Brashear in Allegheny during the past six months has at last been completed and tested, and will now be dismounted and shipped to the Philadelphia observatory, as complete. The final tests were made on Friday night and Saturday morning, and the camera did beautiful work.

This camera is the first to use the large, newly improved curved plates in its work, and took some fine photographs of the heavens on Friday night and early Saturday morning. The system of using curved plates instead of the ordinary flat ones was really perfected by Prof. Wadsworth, one of Prof. Brashear's assistants, who has worked on it for about three years. It is estimated by astronomers that it will take between 4,000 and 5,000 plates to photograph the entire heavens, as against some 30,000 plates required to obtain the same results by means of the flat plates.

Prof. Brashear is very much pleased at the successful termination of this work and is now working on another astronomical camera for the University of Ottawa, which he hopes to complete soon. He said yesterday in regard to the tests made:

Clock Moves Cameras.

"The new astronomical camera just completed at my works was for the Philadelphia observatory, and was tested at my works on Friday night and Saturday morning. The night was exceptionally clear, and at 9:25 o'clock double camera No. 1 was set on the star Theta Bootes and guided for one and one-half hours by the aid of the driving clock constructed for that purpose. This clock has to move the telescopic cameras and their mountings, weighing about a ton, and such is the precision of the apparatus that the image of a star no larger than the point of a pin is held steadily upon the photographic plate at one exact point. It is true there is a slight variation, due to the refraction, but this is compensated by a special device under the control of the observer.

"After exposing the great curved plate camera to the sky for an hour and a half a plate was placed in camera No. 2 and the center of the plate set on another star in the same constellation and exposed for two and one-fourth hours, ending at 1:40 o'clock. The plates were developed on Saturday. They are the first large curved plates ever used in astronomical photography and promise a new era in this wonderful field of research.

Is a Great Success.

"Heretofore flat plates have been satisfactory and they have been able to get a picture of the stars covering 10 degrees square of the heavens. Indeed, this has been the limit up to the time the curved plates were invented. The shape of the stellar images has become rapidly distorted after such a field has been reached. Indeed, every photographer knows how difficult it is to get a large, flat field.

"The new cameras have a beautiful field of nearly 20 degrees on a circular plate, covering an area of 640 square degrees, against 100 of the flat plate, and every star is so perfect that it can be readily measured. In the part of the heavens photographed on one of these plates there are 50 stars visible to the naked eye, and in that part of the sky where stars are fewest. On each one of the plates exposed on Friday night and Saturday morning there are not less than 85,000 stars shown and several minute nebulae.

"One of these nebulae photographed was discovered by Messier, a French astronomer, but its character was unknown until the photograph reveals it to be of spiral form. The late Prof. Keller discovered most of the nebulae took this form in the process of evolution, but I believe this nebulae has never before been recognized as a spiral. Prof. Wadsworth and Mr. McDowell, my assistants, have developed this curved plate camera to a great perfection, and it will be a most valuable instrument in the hands of astronomers to study the mysteries of the stellar universe."

AT TRACTION PARKS.

Pittsburgh Railways Co. Forced to Hire Extra Men to Accommodate the Crowds.

Officials of the traction parks had expected cold weather and rain yesterday and had made their calculations accordingly. The sudden change to a balmy spring day upset car schedules that were made Saturday. All the extra men that could be hired were put on and every car that could be pressed into use was in service during the afternoon. The new line of cars to run between Kennywood and Oakland Sundays and holidays was established. Twenty cars bearing the sign "To Craig Street Only" were running between the park and the Oakland car barns. These cars are intended to give East End people a chance to ride to the park in comfort, the regular Kennywood cars always being crowded long before they reach Oakland. On the downtown trip passengers for points west of Craig street are transferred to Consolidated cars coming down town at Craig and Forbes.

The attractions at Kennywood were Rocereto's Concert band and the Harris vocal quartet. The concert was given in the enclosed dancing pavilion and both organizations were liberally applauded. The mirror maze, the first in any park hereabout, was opened for the first time and furnished amusement for many people, and the old mill and the rowboats on the lake were sources of delight to the youngsters.

Calhoun park had a much larger crowd than on the opening Sunday. The attractions there were the Pittsburgh Philharmonic orchestra and the Lone Star vocal quartet. Special cars had to be put on between the park and McKeesport and 30 trains ran between the park and Market street.

That a South Side park was needed is shown by the large attendance at Southern yesterday. The attractions were the Second Brigade band and L. Claire McLaughlin, balladist, and the work of the performers was liberally applauded. As soon as the steel rails and other material can be secured the connection between the Suburban line, on which a Southern park is located, and the Hilltop lines at the second tollgate, will be made and the people of Knoxville, Beltzhoover, Allentown, Brownsville avenue and lower South Side will have a chance to get to the park direct.

There was also a big crowd of people at Oakwood park, where the attractions were the Homestead Library band and Mrs. R. S. McMillen, soprano soloist.

ITALIAN BEATEN.

Frank Pinci Was Set Upon by a Big Crowd and Roughly Handled.

Frank Pinci, an Italian, is lying at the Homeopathic hospital with his face twice the size it ought to be and with danger of erysipelas setting in and killing him. Pinci was beaten unmercifully by a crowd of men yesterday morning and Herbert Guthrie and Louis Lipson are held at the Central police station to await the result of his injuries. The police are looking for three more men, suspected of being in the crowd that assaulted Pinci.

The Italian was unable to be at the hearing before Magistrate Bernard McKenna yesterday morning, but Guthrie and Lipson were examined. They said that at 2 a. m. yesterday they were standing at Ross street and Second avenue. Suddenly they saw Pinci running up Ross street brandishing a big open clasp knife. He was pursued by three men, one of whom yelled to Guthrie and Lipson to stop the Italian as he had killed some one.

They turned and followed, and before the county jail on Ross street was reached the crowd chasing the Italian had grown to more than 100 persons. The Italian was either knocked down or stumbled and fell. Then the crowd set upon him and kicked him about the face and body, fully 25 persons administering the punishment. The crowd scattered when the police arrived, but Guthrie and Lipson were arrested. They say they did not strike Pinci and were only spectators. It is thought that the Italian had a quarrel with some one who egged on the crowd.

PENNSYLVANIA TRACKS BLOCK LIBERTY STREET

Traffic Congestion in Downtown District Greatly Increased.

ORDINANCES VIOLATED

Railroad Company Uses Tracks at Forbidden Times, Trains Are Stopped and Cars Unloaded on Street, According to Merchants.

One of the most congested thoroughfares in the business district of Pittsburgh is Liberty avenue. Occupied as it is by street car and railroad tracks its good width is of little advantage to other traffic. At Eleventh street, where the railroad track begins, there is a double track street car system operated jointly by three lines of cars. The Birmingham leaves the avenue at Smithfield street, and another line at Wood, but at Ninth and Seventh streets the former Pleasant Valley system enters, at Sixth and Fifth the Manchester and West End systems and at Cecil alley the cars of the Consolidated lines, from many parts of the city.

The railroad goes on down to the Point, with a number of side tracks and increasing powers to interfere with ordinary traffic. The stress of freight business occupies the street near the Point, as well as the Duquesne freight shed, leaving but a narrow way on one side for teams and carriages to go through. As a rule there are teams on both sides of the track outside the shed below Third street, loading and unloading, as the depot is insufficient to accommodate present business.

Illegal Nuisance.

Trains come and go at all hours of the day until the majority of business people along the street and all who have to cross or traverse it declare them a nuisance. Property owners and others are chary about the use of their names in this connection, however. A commission man said: "I am renting here very cheap and do not want to be quoted, but if I owned this property I would say 'off with the railroad track.' It is a nuisance, but if it were not here rents would be much higher."

The owner of an office building said: "That railroad track is a nuisance, of course, and ought to be removed to Duquesne way or elsewhere. But I fear if it is taken up the street will be occupied by more trolley roads, which would be little better."

Another property owner declared: "With that track out of the way Liberty avenue would speedily become a leading business street of the city. Property would advance 50 to 100 per cent in value. Rents would advance, so as to drive away some produce men and poulterers, but they should not be here anyway. That track could just as well be taken over on Duquesne way and such a disposition of the matter would do more than any one thing to relieve the congestion on the downtown streets. If the track should be elevated trains could be run at all times to the decided advantage of the railroad and shippers of merchandise. As it is the pressure of freight business leads the railroad people to violate the city ordinances many times every day."

Ordinances Covering the Case.

The city ordinances governing the running of trains on Liberty street provide, first: "The Pennsylvania Railroad Company shall not be permitted to pass trains along Liberty street below Wayne street except before 10 o'clock a. m. and after 3 o'clock p. m. of the day." Second: "No bituminous coal or wood shall be used in the engine of any locomotive employed in conducting trains upon any railroad." (That is, upon the streets of the city.) Third: "No train shall be stopped upon any street for any purpose whatever." Fourth: "No railroad company shall use the streets of the city for any other purpose than to go and return from the inner stations." For every violation of any one of these provisions the penalty is $50.

The clause last quoted has been tested in court: in the case of Rush vs. the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, in which the decision affirmed, that a railroad company has not the right to load or unload its cars on a public highway. Yet it is the testimony of residents and business men in Liberty street between the Union and Duquesne depots that every one of these provisions is violated daily. Trains are moved at all hours, they are stopped on the street, cars are loaded and unloaded on the public highway, locomotives use bituminous coal. Even with all this there is freight congestion, and interminable delays in delivering goods.

Would Benefit Railroad.

It is generally conceded it would be better for the Pennsylvania railroad, as well as for the city, to have the tracks removed from Liberty street and elevated on Duquesne way. The warehouse project in the Point district will lend itself admirably to the change, as elevated tracks will be more convenient for the warehouses than tracks at the street level. There is a commission considering this subject, of which Mr. Robert Pitcairn is chairman, but it has not yet submitted any report to Director Brown.

In this connection it is interesting to turn back a page of history. The original grant to the Pennsylvania railroad gave it more of Liberty street than it now occupies, and an ordinance was passed in December, 1861, enabling it "to remove its tracks, from a portion of Liberty street, in the city of Pittsburgh." The preamble to that ordinance is so apropos to the present situation that a portion of it might well be used in connection with an ordinance today, to enable the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to remove the remainder of its tracks from what is naturally one of the main arteries of the city. The preamble is quoted below:

Good Reason for Removal.

Whereas, The occupation of that portion of Liberty street, in the city of Pittsburgh, extending from Grant street eastwardly to the line between the Fifth and Ninth wards of said city, by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, for its tracks and roadway, renders the use thereof for other and ordinary purposes of travel exceedingly dangerous and inconvenient;

And whereas, Penn street and Liberty street constitute the best and most practical outlet eastward from the said city, it is deemed imperatively necessary to again secure the free and unobstructed use of that portion of Liberty street so occupied by said railroad company;

And whereas, The Pennsylvania Railroad is willing to purchase the premises and lots of land situate on the south side of Liberty street and Quarry street from the line between the Fifth and Ninth wards aforesaid, to Washington street, whereon no tracks can be laid and business transacted, thereby enabling said company to restore to the city that portion of Liberty street now occupied by it; therefore,

Section 1. Be it ordained &c.,

Liberty street between the Union depot and the Monongahela wharf is as important to the relief of the city from overcrowding now as the eastward outlet was in 1861. It is yet one of "the most practical outlets eastward."

Everything Favors Change.

Persons who have been giving this matter thought point out that it is easier now than ever before for the Pennsylvania railroad to abandon Liberty street, and give it over to its legitimate place in the growth of the city. The elevation of tracks into the Union depot, and across the river to Allegheny approaches naturally to the construction of elevated tracks down Duquesne way, where they would blend harmoniously into the plan for removing the vegetable and poultry markets to the riverside. The elevated structure itself might have stalls and booths beneath for the accommodation of market gardeners, removing from Market and Diamond streets some of the traffic that now overtaxes them.

The conversion of the Point district into warehouse sites, previously mentioned, also invites the Pennsylvania railroad and the city to make this change at once. The plans for the warehouses are not complete. They can be better adapted to elevated than to surface tracks, but it will not be easy to change them, if once designed and built, to receive the latter. By this alteration, terminal facilities may be indefinitely increased at less cost than by any other method.

Died in the Hospital—Henry Entress, 20 years old and single, died at the Mercy hospital at 12:15 a. m. from a fracture of the skull. On Friday he was injured in the brickyard of A. M. Fought Over a Woman—Two young Irishmen are locked up in Allegheny Central station for engaging in a rough-and-tumble fight in Preble avenue about 7 o'clock last night. They are Patrick O'Brien, aged 18 years, and Thomas O'Neil, aged 17, both of Woods Run avenue. The fight was over a young girl with whom both of the men are in love.

Killed by a Train—John A. Kelly of No. 2817 Edwards alley was found on the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad near South Twenty-eighth street about 12 o'clock Saturday night. His left leg and one shoulder were broken and he was sent to the South Side hospital, where he died a short time later. It is supposed he was struck by a train. Kelly was 49 years old and married.

Sunday at the Jail—The Rev. J. C. Charged With Stealing—William Mitchell, colored, of Slate alley, was arrested by Policeman William Reynolds in Washington street yesterday and locked up in the Center avenue station. Working Against Saloons—A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Father Lambing Total Abstinence society was held yesterday afternoon in Duquesne hall, Penn avenue. President John J. Maloney was in the chair, and addresses were made by John M. Tighe, Charles J. Smith and others. The reports of the officers show that the society is in good condition and is steadily increasing its membership. A special feature is made of looking after the sick, and much good is being done in this direction.

Billboards Missing—John Ford was sent to jail yesterday on the charge of larceny brought by T. A. Brockman before Justice of the Peace E. H. Morton of Homestead. The proprietors of Main's circus had complained that somebody was stealing their billboards, so Mr. Morton's constable kept watch. It is charged that Ford drove up with a wagon and loaded up the billboards and started to Pittsburgh with them. It is asserted that the stolen billboards were sold in Pittsburgh.

Want a New Bridge—A determined effort is being made by the citizens of Tarentum, Natrona, Braeburn and Edgecliff to have a new bridge built across the Allegheny river. They want the bridge built from a point between Braeburn and Edgecliff across to a point below Natrona. Petitions are being circulated on the Natrona end for presentation to the Allegheny courts and on the opposite side of the river for presentation to the courts of Westmoreland county. It is the idea of the petitioners to have the bridge a joint county affair.

Robbed in Allegheny—James Newton of Preble avenue, Allegheny, complained late Saturday night to the North Side police that he had been robbed by two men a short time before. He had been in a McClure avenue saloon, where he treated two men, and as he was going home they assaulted him and took all the money he had—about $5 in change. The police arrested Michael Ronan of Kerr street and Jacob Miller of Preble avenue, whom Newton identified as the men who robbed him. They were locked up in Central station as suspicious persons, and yesterday Police Magistrate Henry Hunneshagen sent each of them to the workhouse for 30 days.

Died from Alcoholism—Hugo Rodgers, aged 40 years and single, died at his boarding house, No. 221 Lehigh avenue, about 8 o'clock last night from alcoholism. Yesterday morning early he applied to Dr. E. R. Beggs of No. 334 South Highland avenue for some medicine to relieve him from the effects of excessive drinking. The physician prescribed for him and later in the day was summoned to his bedside, only to find that he was dying. Dr. Beggs notified the coroner of the death and the corpse was taken to the morgue. Rodgers came to Pittsburgh from West Virginia some time ago and it is supposed that his family lives there.

PEACOCK WILL BUILD BATHS FOR THE COLUMBIAN SCHOOLS.

Notified Council That He Will Supply Long-Felt Want and His Offer Was Accepted.

A. R. Peacock has notified the Columbian school council that he will donate money for the erection of a modern bathhouse and gymnasium at the Center avenue school. Mr. Peacock's offer was accepted yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the council. The plans will be prepared and the bathhouse constructed at once.

It is estimated that it will cost $5,000. Since the college settlement work has begun at the Center avenue school the lack of bath facilities has been a serious drawback. The record for one room last year with three tubs was 6,600 baths. Mr. Peacock became interested in the work of the school and offered to furnish money for a separate bathhouse with a gymnasium attached.

HOTEL CHEF MURDERED.

Jealous Fellow Workman Kills Him With Meat Cleaver and Dances in Glee Upon the Body.

BRIDGEPORT, CONN., May 11.—Lawrence Bressano, a fireman in the Atlantic hotel, crept into the meat room this morning and split the skull of Michael Tornish, the chef, with a meat cleaver. He then took a large butcher knife and slashed the body, cutting off the nose and ears, gouging out the eyes and cutting strip after strip of flesh off the face of the victim. When the upper part of the body was unrecognizable, Bressano jumped on it and danced from the head to the feet until the arrival of the police, who were attracted by the frenzied yells of the murderer. Bressano then turned his attention to his would-be captors and was not subdued until one policeman broke his club over his head, and another knocked him senseless to the ground with the brass buckle of a belt.

Bressano at police headquarters acknowledged the murder and said he felt better for having committed it. It is believed that trouble over a woman led him to kill his fellow workman. He will be given a preliminary trial tomorrow.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

One Obvious Way Out.

An article in our news columns concerning the possible removal of the Pennsylvania railroad track from Liberty street calls attention to one of the most important as well as simplest means for relieving the congestion in the business district of Pittsburgh. Unquestionably the city should have the use of that fine thoroughfare and it seems equally certain it would be to the advantage of the railroad company to go to Duquesne way. If the company is not ready to admit that view of the case a vigorous enforcement of the ordinances by the city authorities would speedily convince it. Recorder Brown has it well within his power to see that city ordinances are not violated with impunity and he has favored the removal of the Liberty street track. Ordinances are made to be enforced.

The Gazette has no disposition to advocate harsh measures against any one, but is intensely anxious that citizens, public officials and railroads should appreciate the necessity at this juncture of laying a broad foundation for the future. Pittsburgh has reached a point in its development where it is in danger of strangulation. To avoid that calamity, to get on the road to greater progress than has yet been realized, it is essential to adopt a new scale for the measurement of things. Choked traffic must be given an outlet; inadequate facilities must be enlarged, not merely to meet present demands, but to provide for future expansion. Much of the inconvenience and loss already suffered could have been avoided had broader policies been adopted in the past. The value of a mistake is in its power to point the way that should be taken.

New Subjects of Taxation.

An attempt is to be made to establish by ordinance in Pittsburgh the policy of taxing the public service corporations on their receipts. Such taxation was one of the issues in the recent municipal campaign. All the reform candidates stood on this plank and the people approved it in the large majorities that were given by them in the ward contests and in the whole city. The Gazette approved the suggestion of taxation of corporations enjoying public grants and franchises and approves the proposition to make this plank of the reform platform effective. Taxation of the public service corporations is in the interest of equalization of the public burdens. There is constant pressure for public improvements and present subjects of taxation carry all the load that they should be called upon to assume. Councils and the recorder may reduce this burden and make provision for needed improvements by ordaining the new subjects of taxation suggested.

A Chance for Shoulder Straps.

An opportunity is afforded to young men of Pittsburgh and vicinity to qualify for cadetships in the revenue marine service. On June 17, 18 and 19 examinations will be held in all the states of the union, and all citizens between the ages of 18 and 25 are elegible to compete. Unfortunately there are but 10 cadetships vacant, but they are prizes well worth competing for. Examinations will be held for Western Pennsylvania in this city and at Warren. They will be conducted by the local civil service examining boards, and candidates for places will be examined in spelling, geography, general history, constitution of the United States, grammar, composition and rhetoric, physics, English literature, the modern language (French, German or Spanish), and general information.

The revenue cutter service of the United States is a branch of the treasury department, but its officers have relative rank with officers of the army and navy. The young man who wins a cadetship has his entire future provided for. As a cadet he receives $500 per year and one ration per day. After two years' satisfactory service as a cadet he may be commissioned as lieutenant. A third lieutenant in the cutter service ranks with a second lieutenant in the army, and is paid $1,400 per year. A second lieutenant in the cutter service ranks with a first lieutenant in the army and receives $1,500 per year. A first lieutenant in the cutter service ranks with a captain in the army and his pay is $1,800 per year. A captain in the cutter service ranks with a major in the army and his pay is $2,500 per year. There is also longevity pay, as in the army, an officer being given an increase for each five years he serves in any given rank. Furthermore, at the age of 64 he is retired on three-fourths of the pay of the rank he holds at the time of retirement, which pay he will receive while he lives.

Except that it is impossible to reach so high a grade in the cutter service as in the army or in the navy, the service is equally as attractive, and in many respects it is less onerous and exacting. Doubtless many Pittsburghers will enter the competitive lists.

Relief for Martinique.

Dictates of human sympathy as well as sentiments of international friendship make the prompt offers of this government to send relief to the stricken inhabitants of the island of Martinique entirely proper and praiseworthy. Rarely is the world given so fearful an exhibition of human suffering and death as that which followed the terrible volcanic eruption which is said to have almost entirely destroyed the city of St. Pierre with its 40,000 inhabitants. Secretary of the Navy Moody has promptly ordered several vessels to be prepared to act as transports for supplies from this country and the French government has been notified that we are ready to do all that lies within our power to relieve the distress consequent upon the awful tragedy.

It may be possible that little can be done, but there is certainly no good reason why the willing disposition may not be shown and our help made at once available in case the need should exist. Congress deferred action in the matter until today because of objection to what was thought to be haste in offering to send aid before an official request was made for such action. The generous hearted American public will hardly feel that it can be too quick in its sympathies for those in distress, and the movement to take part in the general work of relief should not be delayed beyond today.

We suggest that the chamber of commerce take the matter up in behalf of the people of Pittsburgh and receive contributions from them. Our citizens will be glad to contribute where help is so plainly needed.

Fair Play.

The Philadelphia Inquirer, the mouthpiece of the Stone administration, declares that all Elkin asks "is that the people shall be given the opportunity—nothing more—to express themselves," and that "he stands for the principle of fair play and the right of the people to name their own candidate." We are glad to be assured of this by Mr. Elkin's organ. For the people have been accorded the opportunity to express themselves and will name their own candidate, and we hope Mr. Elkin and the Inquirer will be satisfied with the candidate they name. The fair play that is demanded for Mr. Elkin he is being given. He stands before the people as the candidate of the state administration, of which Gov. Stone is the chief. He was invited to Wilkesbarre by opponents of the Stone administration to discuss the issues of the campaign and was given a respectful hearing. If that is not fair play to the limit we would be glad to know what is fair play. Mr. Elkin is in the open on the platform of his record and his associations, and the people are choosing between him and another. Their final decision will be expressed in the state convention, following the full, free and fair discussion now in progress, in which Mr. Elkin, Gov. Stone's candidate, is being given every opportunity to be heard. If this is not satisfactory to the Inquirer it must be because it fears the fair play it calls for that is being given. There is no barrier set up against Mr. Elkin, but the barriers sought to be set up in his behalf have been thrown down and the contest opened to all comers. Mr. Elkin no longer has a monopoly. The Inquirer would perhaps consider it fair play to give him a monopoly. Others differ with it.

Bryan as a Journalist.

W. J. Bryan says, with every show of sincerity, that he is out of politics so far as again being a candidate for the presidency, and further declares that the alluring prospect of winning fame and fortune as a journalist is the prime cause of this decision. It is very generally understood that the late presidential candidate has succeeded well with his newspaper venture in Lincoln, Neb., and the Commoner is believed to be a fairly profitable piece of property for its owner. But it is evidently not for the Commoner that Mr. Bryan will forego the possible honor of another presidential nomination. He yearns to broaden his field and as a start in this direction is allowing himself to be advertised as the unprejudiced American correspondent of an illustrated newspaper, who will go to Cuba to report the inauguration of President Palma from a wholly unbiased standpoint. As editor of the Commoner Mr. Bryan missed the one attractive feature of journalism that he most needs and desires—publicity. Journalism of the kind that means hard editorial work on a weekly newspaper can have few attractions for a man of Mr. Bryan's mold, no matter how profitable it might be from the standpoint of finances. Whether he is really sincere in his purpose to retire from politics or not makes little difference. He may feel that it is the proper thing to say just now. Nor can there be unlimited confidence placed in Mr. Bryan's eulogistic praise of journalism as a profession. The kind of journalism that really deserves the name and the kind Mr. Bryan yearns for are two totally different propositions. The one offers hard work with such success and fame as come to a man who is content to be the unseen guide, friend and instructor of the people. The other offers a chance for temporary notoriety that will keep a man's name and his movements constantly in the public eye.

As to what department of newspaper work will be likely to suit Mr. Bryan best there can hardly be two opinions. He has had a taste of one in his connection with the Commoner and finds it wholly inadequate to the purpose formed in his own mind, and of which even his engagingly frank denial of presidential ambitions does not seem to cloud or obscure.

A Pittsburgh Achievement.

The new astronomical camera, with its curved plates, enabling the astronomer to photograph the whole field of the heavens in one-sixth of the time now required for the work, is a scientific triumph for Pittsburgh. It is the result of years of labor, and its complete success was demonstrated in a practical test on Friday night and Saturday morning at the Allegheny observatory. The plates used in this test are the first large curved plates ever used and the Philadelphia observatory will be the first to be equipped for their use. The camera just completed is for the Philadelphia institution, and the next will go to Ottawa. Photography has been of great aid to astronomers in the study of the stars, many being revealed on the plate that were not made apparent to the mere vision, aided by the most powerful telescope. The superiority of the circular curved plate over the square flat plate is in the greater field it will photograph, and in the greater accuracy that can be obtained with it. The work of astronomers will be greatly aided and facilitated by its use.

A Scranton newspaper says of Attorney General Elkin: "Wszystkie powyzsze osoby kresiac historje szcia p. Elkina, podia wszystgie szczegoly oparte na własnych spostrzezeniach i osobistej z nim znajomosci. Historja ta jest bardzo Ciekawa i warto ja przeczytac." It seems to us that Col. Waires should stick a pin in this.

Maryland people are much exercised over a supposed wild man who has made his appearance in that state. Congressman Mudd has fortunately been able to prove an alibi in each instance.

Those members of the beef trust who thought Attorney General Knox was only foolin' have several more thinks coming their way.

The snake stories and the accounts of big snow falls throughout the country are likely to get mixed up in the news this week.

From all accounts the wheels of Washington official society have been badly punctured in one or two places.

There are several intimations in the foreign news of another war poem from the pen of Rudyard Kipling.

Michigan reports six inches of snow last week. Atlanta and Oshkosh are yet to be heard from.

The Delaware peach crop had a narrow escape.

QUAY KNEW THE WAY.

From the Washington Post.

An old gentleman was wandering yesterday through the old library portion of the capitol. He was lost. Presently he met a senator.

"I want to go to Senator Quay's room," said the old gentleman, "and I have lost my way. Can you help me?"

"Certainly," was the reply. "I will show you."

And so the senator carefully piloted the old gentleman through the devious passageways and helped him into the elevator and finally conducted him into Senator Quay's committee room.

"This is Senator Quay's room," he said to the stranger. "Whom do you want to see?"

"Senator Quay," was the response.

"I am Mr. Quay," said the senator.

The old gentleman nearly collapsed.

RURAL FACTS AND FANCIES.

L. J. Wilson, who operates a stone quarry near Logansport, came to town Saturday with a monstrous catfish which he caught with a pole and line at that place. It weighed 31 pounds.—Freeport Herald.

If there is anything more exasperating when a man is trying to collect his thoughts than to have an amateur performer on a brass instrument break in with his horrible discordant notes, we do not know what it is. It is enough to drive one mad to pass through such an experience.—McKean Democrat.

On last Saturday Paul, the 8-year-old son of Robert Bickerton, was out doing some work on his father's farm, when he captured a large blacksnake and brought it to the house. It pretended to be nearly six feet long, and the boy came dragging it in, scaring the girls of the household. He turned it loose in the barn and will allow it to catch all the rats and mice it can.—Elizabeth Herald.

Messrs. Jonathan and Samuel N. Ealy are ahead of other people with their corn this season, having finished husking on May 1. Those who haven't planted their corn yet had better call and get some seed from the Messrs. Ealy, who are considered husklers. They have their oats to sow yet, and will try for another crop of corn this year. Perhaps they have the cart before the horse.—Claysville Recorder.

Our old friend, David Kline of Monroe township, has our thanks for some very fine seed potatoes. Now if we only had some fellow to plow the ground, plant the potatoes and cultivate them through the summer, and then raise them next fall and put them in our cellar, we believe we could get along very nicely with the work of cooking and eating them. We like to be accommodating.—Clarion Democrat.

Harry G. Rust, the new Federal telephone manager of this place, while out looking after the company's interests at Avonmore and Edri last Saturday morning, accompanied by another employe of the company, came across a huge blacksnake. They at once proceeded to capture the reptile. The snake put up a good fight, however, but it did not take long for the new manager to capture his game. The snake measured almost five feet. Mr. Rust brought his prize to Leechburg later in the day, skinned it and then sent the hide to Pittsburgh, where he will have it cured and a belt made of it, which he will wear as a trophy.—Leechburg Advance.

This is the season of the year when the neighbors' chickens are very apt to be raising Cain with your newly-made garden, and you may want to know what to do about it. Hens are not free commoners any more than is stock of any kind. If they come on your premises you may catch them (if you can) and proceed in like just the same as though it were your neighbor's horse, cow or hog which was trespassing. If you cannot catch the fowls and shut them up, holding them as security for payment of the damage done—and you probably can't—you can sue your neighbor for damages even if it amounts to as small a sum as 10 cents. You have no right to shoot the fowls. If you do he would have a case against you. The best remedy we have found is to train a dog to chase the hens out. After a little while they will be so scared that they will stay away. Only mean men let their chickens run to bother their neighbors, anyway.—Sandy Lake News.

Clubs for Bible Class and for Workingmen

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, May 11.

Suggestions for improving the mental and physical condition of men in New York are always coming up. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., one of the richest young men in this city, devotes a large part of every Sunday to work in the bible class of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, of which he is the teacher, and invites all young men to join it. He has just sent out a formal invitation to that effect. It is neatly engraved and is couched in cordial terms, with the autograph of the young multi-millionaire engraved at the bottom. Mr. Rockefeller has organized a club in connection with his class, having established it in a small house in the rear of the church in Forty-fifth street. Pretty nearly everything in the way of amusement is encouraged in the club, except cigarette smoking and drinking. Ping-pong is one of the favorite games, and there are billiards and pool, too. Then there is a gymnasium, reading-room and a library, together with several sleeping-rooms. The cost of membership is $2 a year, which admits to lectures and readings two or three times a week. Young Rockefeller is a popular chap with young men of about his own age, and his experience teaches him that the club idea is a good one, in that it affords wholesome recreation at a nominal cost. Now, one of the evening papers in this city has taken up the idea of furnishing a kind of club at noonday for the laborers on the many big buildings in course of erection. Its suggestion is that the churches should be thrown open for the accommodation of the workmen at the noon hour, so that, after they have consumed their luncheons, they may get out of the heat and dust into a comfortable, restful edifice for, say 20 minutes of stillness and contemplation. It is not likely that the trustees and clergy of the fashionable churches of this city will look favorably on such a proposition, for many reasons; but it has been made, and has caused some discussion. Pewholders who go to church on Sunday morning might object to the soiling of their cushions by the working clothes of hod-carriers and bricklayers, nor, indeed, is it likely the hod-carriers and bricklayers themselves would care to sit in a pew in their Sunday garments in which they had been sprawling around in their dusty habiliments of the day before. Still, there is the suggestion, and its evidently good intention commands respect, at least.

Stock Company Actors.

Edward Locke, the Pittsburgh actor, has joined the stock company playing at the theater in Syracuse, N. Y., opening in "Shenandoah" on Monday week. Verner Clarges, an actor very well and favorably known in Pittsburgh, has just returned to New York after a short season in stock in Toronto. He has been engaged for the rest of the summer at Schenectady to play in the stock company there. Schenectady is one of the busiest towns in New York state. Edison employs an army of men in his works, and all are making good wages. Moreover, they are playgoers and do their share to make their city one of the most prosperous "show towns" in the eastern states.

"The's" Charm Still Works.

"The" Allen is one of the marvels of police history. He has been arrested hundreds of times on various charges, from running a gambling house to resisting officers, but never has been convicted, and, perhaps, never will be. The last time he smiled scornfully at his old friend "The" the police, was yesterday. He had been arrested in a raid by Police Captain Chapman, and was accused of "obstructing the raid." Magistrate Crane, a level-headed administrator of justice, knows his "The" and did not try to hold him in court. He said to the detectives, with a pathos that was downright pitiful: "I'll discharge him. I would hold him if I could, and you know it; but I can't. He had a right to do as he did. The court of appeals has decided that. It is of no use for me to hold him. He'd be discharged and run the town." So "The" Allen, smiling calmly, walked out of court, while the detectives bit their nails in vexation as they saw their slippery prey eluding them once more.

Glanders in the Metropolis.

Glanders, one of the most insidious and most infectious diseases among horses, has made it appearance in New York. Several cases were found in one livery stable in Washington street yesterday and the stable was quarantined. It is hoped that the disease can be kept in this one place. An epidemic of glanders in New York would be a national calamity.

Pathetic Plea for Park Flowers.

It is difficult to prevent children gathering wild flowers. William T. Hornaday, director of the zoological park in the Bronx, realizes this, but is trying hard to keep the youngsters from taking the flowers in the park. On a bright Sunday, like this one, not less than 20,000 persons visited the Bronx park. Of this number a large proportion are children, and they fly to the wild flowers as naturally as bees or butterflies. Mr. Hornaday thus pleads for his flowers in a formal appeal to the people: "In this crowded city children and grown-ups must learn to enjoy the wild flowers of the parks without destroying them. Parents, do tell your children impressively, that a flower living and smiling on the ground is far more beautiful than when withering in a hot little hand. We are striving to preserve the natural loveliness of Bronx park for you and your children, not for our own pleasure. Are you willing to help us before it is too late to save the flowers?"

End of a Degenerate Music Hall.

The New York police department is exercising a more severe censorship over places of public amusement than used to be the case. Commissioner Partridge yesterday refused renewal of licenses to the "Bon Bon" music hall in West Twenty-third street, and "The Abbey," a music hall in Eighth avenue. The renewals were opposed by the Society for the Prevention of Crime and the New York Sabbath committee. What makes this action of passing interest to some Pittsburghers is that the "Bon Bon" was Koster & Bial's some 10 or 15 years ago, before the music hall in Thirty-fourth street, which was demolished last fall to make way for the new Macey stores, was built by the Koster & Bial firm. It was at the old Twenty-third street music hall that Carmencita made her American debut. At that time it was quite the proper thing to go to see Carmencita dance, and few Pittsburghers who found themselves in this city for a few days of sightseeing omitted a visit to Koster & Bial's from their itinerary. One of the famous features of the place was the "cork room," where Jennie Joyce, Madge Lessing and other beauties of the ballet laughed and chatted with that class of the jeunesse dores which the Tenderloin knows as "wine openers." Since Koster & Bial's name was taken down, the old music hall has never amounted to much, and now, unless the action of the police commissioner can be overcome, it looks as if the place had about reached the end of its career.

Troubles of Theatrical Brothers.

The Sire Bros., theatrical managers of this city, are having a disturbed time of it. Justice Steckler of the supreme court scored them from the bench on Friday in connection with a suit in which they are defendants. The Sires probably did not mind that, considering the source. They could not give "back talk" to a supreme court justice, and there was nothing for it but to grin and bear it. The Casino theater, which the Sires want to hold, undoubtedly will be wrested out of their hands at last, in spite of the valiant fight they are making. To retaliate on the Shubert Bros., who are after the Casino, the Sires are trying to get the Herald Square theater away from the Shuberts and perhaps they will succeed. At the New York, which the Sire Bros. control, there are several score of chorus girls and comedians ready to fight at the drop of the hat, and the Sires have numberless other interests in the city, all of which are open to watching. The question is, who would be a Sire if he could help it?

Nip of Frost Good for Churches.

There was a nice little frost this morning early, but it evaporated before the usual Sunday breakfast time, and the general verdict is that there was never a better morning in New York than this. The slight nip of frost may have had something to do with the splendid attendance at all the churches in the city. Whatever the reason, it is certain that New York's clergymen have seldom had larger congregations than faced them today at every service.

New York Label of Dressed Beef.

One of the consequences of the rise in meat prices and the talk in connection with it is that butchers are explaining the difference between "city-dressed beef" and the Chicago article. It is explained that a butcher can distinguish one from the other at a glance. Beef dressed in New York has its dividing line between the fore and hind quarters, a little farther back than the Chicago dressed meat. A layman would not notice it, but to the butcher this peculiarity is a label the purport of which cannot be mistaken. In spite of the competition of the west in dressed meat, there is a continuous demand for that dressed in this city, and butchers say there has been no falling off in it since the agitation over high prices. At present a large part of the cattle received here come from Pennsylvania, mostly from Lancaster county and the neighborhood.

Two New Theatrical Offerings.

Jane Holly, who was a great favorite in Pittsburgh a few years ago, has a prominent part in "Hearts Aflame," the new play which is to have its premiere at the Garrick tomorrow evening. Another new offering in the theatrical line tomorrow will be "King Dodo" at Daly's. This musical extravaganza has had a long run in Chicago, and now we are to see whether the taste of New York is the same as that of the western metropolis.

Robbers of Babies.

There is a thief on the East Side who is pursuing the "Kluchin lay." He waylays little children, of 3 or 4 or 5 years of age, takes them into a secluded place and steals their clothing. One 4-year-old boy yesterday ran to his home clad only in his little undershirt and socks. The wretched thief had stripped every other bit of clothing from the child. The police are looking for the fellow, but unless they hustle him away quickly when he is caught he is likely to have a painful time of it at the hands of parents whose children have been attacked. His victims in several instances have been little ones attending a kindergarten.

Pilgrimages to Stricken St. Pierre.

The calamity at St. Pierre has turned the attention of thousands of New Yorkers to the island of Martinique who never thought much about the place before. Already the descriptive writers and artists who will give us graphic eye-witness accounts of the appearance of things there have started for the scene, and there are many others who will go in the course of this week. The adventurous spirit of young America cannot be satisfied with staying away when there is such a picturesque scene of desolation awaiting it down in the Caribbean sea. It is reckoned that several hundreds of young men will leave this port for Martinique, or as near as they can get to it, before this day week. And their most important business will be the satisfying of curiosity.

Sunday on the Speedway.

The parade of fast horses along the Speedway yesterday seems to have stirred up fresh interest in the horse. There was a larger number of drivers on the Speedway and the avenues adjacent to Central park today than has been for a month of Sundays, it is estimated that 20,000 persons watched the procession yesterday, among them being Gen. Miles.

Feminine Sympathy for the Fords.

There was much hysterical weeping among the women and girls in the street who had been attracted by curiosity to see the coffins of the two Ford brothers, removed from Paul Leicester Ford's beautiful home in East Seventy-seventh street to the waiting hearses. Seldom has there been a tragedy in this city to awaken so much interest as this of which Paul Leicester Ford and his brother, Malcolm, were the victims. The women who wept in the street were strangers to the family, and probably had seen neither of the brothers in their lives, but the pathos of it all appealed to their femininity and they were obliged to weep. Both coffins were fairly buried in white blossoms. The interment was in the family plot at Irvington-on-the-Hudson.

Horticulturists Organize.

A certificate incorporating the Horticultural society of New York has been filed with the secretary of state. Its objects are to collect and diffuse information on all topics relating to the culture and care of plants, fruits, flowers and vegetables, to promote a taste for them, and to award prizes in money, certificates and medals for horticultural novelties and discoveries. The board of directors is made up of prominent New Yorkers, including Spencer Trask, the well-known banker.

Why Attendance Was Meager at "Pop" Concerts

The very meager attendance at all save one of the popular concerts given by the Pittsburgh orchestra at Duquesne garden the past fortnight must be a matter of regret to all who appreciate the far-reaching influence of musical culture on the refinement of a community. And it must also be a matter for some study of cause and effect on the part of the management of the enterprise.

An intelligent and lasting interest in good music is one of the earliest evidences of mental culture. That America is yet new to this expression of growth is evidenced by the fact that less than half a dozen of American cities support a permanent orchestra, and still further evidence is adduced by the fact that outside the regular orchestra season there is but little interest in music shown by the general public. This fact the management of the "pop" concerts must take into grave consideration, when summing up the failure or success of the two years' experiment at Duquesne garden.

Pittsburgh is not more musical than other American cities of the same size and class. There is a superficial interest, grown up within the past decade, which at first sight seems to promise great things, but it is yet so young as to dissipate like chaff before a wind of adverse quality. The great majority of the concert audiences need the prop of fashionable approval to hold them up to their musical aspirations. This is a very frail prop, likely to be knocked out of reach by a single ball or wedding reception—and with it gone the concert audience is pretty sure to be of very scant proportions. Considering this, the experiment of two solid weeks of music, even popular music, is running close to the danger line. Coming so close after the grand opera season, when great numbers whose taste is so superficial that it would not stand the test of silence for a single act, had been surfeited by five performances so unmistakably of fashionable import that attendance was a foregone conclusion, this year's "pop" concerts still further weakened their hold. Coming likewise at a season when the entire musical contingent of the city is finishing up, when every choral club and conservatory class is working with heart and soul for final appearances and when the friends and acquaintances of all such members are called on repeatedly for interest and attendance, these concerts struck a third impediment in the way of being truly popular.

Duquesne garden is largely a pleasure resort; it is not a concert hall pure and simple, nor is it a formal place for entertainment. Relaxation is the watchword, and the providing of a smoking foyer, of refreshment facilities and of two lengthy intermissions offered every advantage for such a season of pleasing music as might be found in any second-class city on the European continent, and possibly later in the season, when the regular music pursuit of the year is over and done with, when the theaters are closed and the city streets are hot and uncomfortable, the delights of music "with trimmins'" would prove irresistible to the crowd. But said crowd needs such incentive. The music would need some such counter-attraction as a prize fight or a burglar trial to attract a crowd. Pittsburgh is not large enough to afford 14 different audiences to fill Duquesne garden, and its one small group of music lovers is not so saturated with loyalty as to go nightly without enthusiasm.

The onus, therefore, of the practical failure of the "pop" series, lies not with the public, so much as with the management. Work outside the orchestra season proper is an excellent thing for any orchestra as a body, keeping the men together and thus making a truly permanent orchestra, but such work to be successful must first be popular. Once the people—the whole people, want a thing badly, the successful existence and continuance of that thing are assured. A created want, created by exhortations to loyalty and consequent support, will never last. The want must come first, and this want to be judiciously called into being, must be awakened gradually. A weekly concert of the popular order and at popular prices throughout one winter might lay an excellent foundation for summer work. Without some such effort put forth with a full understanding of the character of the general public, of the exact proportions of curiosity, appreciation and real desire existent in its many members, all such long seasons as the one just past must be similarly unsatisfactory in result. We need more than a symphony orchestra and the announcement that we are a musical people to make us appreciative to the extent of going daily to listen to a three-hours concert.

The closing concert of the Mozart club, given Friday night at Carnegie music hall, indicated a marked advance on the part of the choral body since last year. The principal drawback was the lack of adequate orchestral support. This was especially apparent in the Leoni cantata, "The Gate of Life," where swelling Roman processionals need tone volume, but this aspect had no retarding effect on the choral work, which was for the most part excellent. This year there has been evinced an effort to put something more than volume into the club's work. Shading was in the past rather an unknown quality, and efforts at softened tones or expression were sporadic and usually ineffective. In the present year, however, all this has been changed, and the chorales for the most part have been given with genuine musical understanding and appreciation, lifting the club out of the standstill slough in which it rested for several years to an activity which has borne admirable results even in a single season. The soprano body, always the standby of the chorus, has improved collectively and individually, if one may judge from the result. The tone volume, without lessening in force, has improved vastly in quality, gaining clarity and sweetness with each succeeding concert. At the concert Friday night the tenors, usually weak, acquitted themselves in good style, and the entire body of voices swung with an ease and understanding indicative not only of study, but of rarely fruitful study.

Announcement as to a season of light opera similar to those of former years, to be inaugurated at Duquesne garden next week, is welcome to the great majority of stay-at-homes. Light opera, a cool auditorium where informality prevails and such hot nights as Pittsburgh usually experienced during the summer season make a good combination to attract visitors, and if deductions may be drawn from past years the entertainment is truly popular. The engagement this year will begin with an especially attractive piece, "1492," the Edward E. Rice success, with Richard Harlow as the Isabella, and a score of light opera favorites in the other roles. It is announced also that more than ordinary attention has been given to the personnel of the chorus, singers of marked ability being selected. With these preliminary advantages to be noted the successful outcome of the season seems an assured fact. Rehearsals will commence Monday.

The great work entitled, "La Resurrection de Lazare," composed by the celebrated French musician, Raoul Pugno, was given its first rendition in America at the Church of the Ascension, Shadyside, last evening, under the direction of Edward J. Napier, organist and choirmaster.

The work is in the form of a "scene religieuse," embracing eight numbers, of which the first (prologue-chorus) announces the fact of Christ's wandering over the earth, relieving woe. From first to last the work abounds in beautiful melody, which, coupled with the dramatic intensity with which it is endowed and a gloriously written climax, brings most vividly to the mind the thrilling episode in the Scriptures which the work is intended to commemorate. The composition calls for solo, quartet and chorus, and on this occasion the solo parts were taken by Miss Henriette Keil, soprano of the Church of the Ascension; Miss Ruth Hay, soprano of the Sixth United Presbyterian church; Mr. Dan Beddoe, tenor of the Shadyside Presbyterian church, and Mr. John Roberts, baritone of the Third Presbyterian church.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Lieut. Gov. Jesse Stone.

WATERTOWN, WIS., May 11.—Jesse Stone, lieutenant-governor of Wisconsin, died tonight, after a lingering illness from cancer of the stomach. Mr. Stone spent some time in the south, hoping to get relief, but without avail. On his return he underwent an operation in a Chicago hospital, where the real cause of his trouble was ascertained. After the operation he was removed to his home in Watertown, and death had been expected for several days. He was a capitalist, banker and manufacturer. He was born August 23, 1836, in Lincoln, Lincolnshire, England, coming to this country at the age of 5 years. He was twice elected lieutenant-governor of Wisconsin on the Republican ticket. He served three terms in the state assembly and held various other offices. He was one of the delegates to the National Republican convention in 1888, and also in 1892, and was a member of the Republican state central committee from 1884 to 1894. He received the title of colonel during Gov. Hoard's administration, serving on his official staff. He was prominent in Masonic circles.

Thomas Roberts Hammond.

Thomas Roberts Hammond, a prominent resident of Oliver, Pa., and a member of the Rees-Hammond Fire Brick Company, which has offices in the Park building, Pittsburgh, died Saturday, May 10, in Aiken, South Carolina. Early in February Mr. Hammond went to Florida for the benefit of his health. He remained in Florida during the winter and on his way home stopped at Aiken, S. C. His condition changed for the worse while in Aiken and he sank rapidly. The deceased was in his 46th year. He leaves a widow, three sons and two daughters. He is also survived by two brothers, J. B. and E. R. Hammond. The remains are being brought back to Bolivar for interment.

Miss Ella M. Young.

Miss Ella Mabel Young, aged 18 years, daughter of Samuel and Emma Young, and a granddaughter of the late John W. Tim, died of pneumonia on Saturday, May 10, at 12:15 p. m., at the family home in Grafton street, East End, after an illness of nine weeks. She was a member of the class of 1903 of the Pittsburgh high school and had many friends. She was lovable in disposition and delightfully entertaining in the home, class room and in society. She was a member of the Sixth United Presbyterian church.

MINERS MAY DECIDE NOT TO CONTINUE STRIKE

Conservative Element Do Not Believe That the Present Movement Is Advisable.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SCRANTON, PA., May 11.—There will be no coal mined in the Scranton end of the anthracite region tomorrow. Even though the strike order was not certain of being religiously obeyed there would be no mining, as the companies have agreed that no attempt will be made to operate.

The strike has already made itself seriously felt in other lines of work. The railroads have laid off four-fifths of their coal train crews, in all about 500 men, and the Erie shops at Dunmore, where mine cars and machinery are repaired, have been shut down indefinitely, beginning tomorrow, throwing 300 men out of employment.

Meetings of all the locals will be held tomorrow to elect and instruct the delegates to the Hazleton convention. The sentiment among the more thoughtful miners is opposed to a continuance of the strike.

At the cathedral this morning Bishop Hoban asked the congregation to pray that the miners should be given light to do what is for the best and that something will intervene to insure a cessation of the conflict.

The story that the Morganized fleets will be used to import coal and prevent a famine does not cause President Mitchell any evident concern. He dismisses it with the remark that the United States is now exporting coal to all parts of the world.

HAZLETON, PA., May 11.—Anticipating the action of their employes, two of the coal companies in this region have practically locked out their men. This step was taken last night when Coxe Brothers & Co., operating the Beaver Meadow colliery, and Calvin Pardee, Sons & Co., owners of the Lattimer mines, notified their employes that they need not report for work until ordered to do so.

These companies, it is believed, expect a long struggle, and this belief is strengthened by the fact that at Lattimer work has been suspended on the rebuilding of a fan house that was burned last week and whose reconstruction was necessary to prevent the accumulation of gases in one part of the slope. The Lehigh Valley Coal Company announced today that it will give employment to all men who report for work tomorrow.

It was reported today that an effort will be made to start up the Cranberry breaker, operated by A. Pardee & Co., with non-union stripping men, so that all the coal that was not sent to the surface on Saturday may be prepared for market. A poll of the stripping men today, however, would indicate that this would be difficult to do.

Samuel Nedrey, a representative of the American Federation of Labor, who arrived here tonight, said the federation would render all possible aid to the miners in their struggle.

WILKESBARRE, PA., May 11.—The clerks employed at the various coal offices in this city were hastily summoned from their homes this morning and put to work on the payrolls. It is reported that all the employes at the mines in this region will be paid in full not later than Thursday, and that when they receive their envelopes they will be told that they are no longer in the employ of the company.

PLANS ACCEPTED.

German Catholics of West Etna Are Ready to Start Their New Church Building.

The building committee appointed by the West Etna German Catholics to take charge of the building of their new church in the West End, met last night and accepted the plans for the church building which were submitted to them about two weeks ago by Architect C. F. Sauer of Etna. The church will be 96x46 feet and will be built of veneered brick on a plot of ground 250x175 feet, which has been secured in Wilson street, West Etna.

The plans for the building will be drawn up in full next week and bids accepted for the contract, after which the building will be pushed along as fast as possible. The church will be named the All Saints' Roman Catholic church of Etna.

Good Will Result in Any Event.

From the Louisville Courier Journal.

The evidence of a widespread conspiracy and concert of action to control the prices of meats, independent of the natural laws of trade, is accumulating rapidly. That this conspiracy, combination, community of interest, or whatever it may turn out to be, has been added to by the law of supply and demand to put up prices higher than would otherwise have been possible makes no sort of difference. Whether the proceedings will be successful in destroying such a combination is still doubtful. But if the facts are fully brought out, that of itself will be a public service.

LARKIN MAKING AN INTERESTING LOT OF FIGURES

How Tax Levy Can Be Reduced Will Be Clearly Shown.

IDEAS OF THE CONTROLLER

In a Communication He Will Send to Councils May 26 Will Be Much to Entertain — Garbage Complaints Call for His Attention.

A communication will be sent to councils on May 26 by Controller John B. Larkin, showing what the revenues of the city have been for the past few years and what they ought to be in the future. Auditor F. A. Kimball has almost completed his report, and when it is made the controller will ask councils for legislation that will increase the revenues, and for the appointment of a collector of revenue who will collect without fear or favor.

Controller Larkin has had an interesting talk with Chief Ordinance Officer Robert H. Lindsay concerning the collection of revenue. Lindsay contends that he has collected more than his predecessors, which the controller does not deny. Mr. Larkin is of the opinion, however, that Lindsay collects all he is allowed to collect, but he thinks there are some firms and corporations the officer could collect revenue from if his superiors, who belong to the "organization," would allow him to do so.

Highland Park Superintendency.

Referring to the disputed Highland park superintendency the controller said: "Personally I do not know Elmer E. Siebert. He is, no doubt, a worthy man in many ways; but I am placed here as the fiscal officer of the city to protect the treasury and see that nothing is taken out of it that should not justly be disbursed, and that every dollar justly due it is deposited. The right to appoint a superintendent of Highland park is, in my judgment, an open question during William Falconer's incumbency as the head of the bureau of parks, but when such a man is selected for that place the controller, in my judgment, has the right to make diligent inquiry as to the man's fitness, training and capacity for such a position.

"The charter says 'the controller shall have power, when a warrant is presented to him, of which he may have doubt, to require evidence that the amount claimed is justly due,' and that covers the whole catalogue of vouchers for labor and supplies.

How Tax Levy Is to Be Cut.

"I started out to cut the tax levy by increasing the revenue and decreasing the disbursements, and began on the revenues, a full report of which for the past 20 years is being prepared. It will embrace every subject, from which revenue has been derived during that time. It will be as instructive, interesting and authentic as it can be made, with the hope that the system may be weeded out and improved.

"After that the disbursements, including all the pay rolls, will be taken up, one at a time, and the dead stuff, if any, cut out. The question of garbage is one that has forged itself to the front during the past few days of warm weather. I would like to have postponed consideration of that subject for a time, but complaints are coming in by the dozen and it looks as though the time is here when I must determine whether the contractor's monthly estimate is justly due him. If the health bureau has taken cognizance of the complaints and remedied them the bill will be paid; if not, the warrant will be referred, no matter what the contract says or what influence is behind it.

"I do not care to sit behind a desk inactive so long as a reasonable construction of the act creating the office gives me an opportunity to do what the people want done. Every time I look at the new charter I get new ideas from it."

PARKS ARE GREEN.

Crowds Enjoyed the New Foliage and Watched the Animals at the Zoo.

The beautiful weather yesterday drew large crowds of visitors to all the parks. Nature has taken on its summer attire, the trees being in almost full leaf and the grass a rich green. Here and there through the parks the wild flowers are making their appearance.

The crowd was largest at Highland park, and the zoo was filled until closing time. It was amusing to watch the people who went up on the hill where the sacred cow of India is penned. There is a supposition among many of the colored folk that to touch the zebu brings good luck, and every time the little cow would put her nose near the wire of her pen many people, both black and white, would stroke her head.

A new pen and yard will be built for the elks as the present quarters are too small. The yard will contain about an eighth of an acre and will be near the present one. It is the intention to erect several new buildings and pens for a number of the other animals. Supt. Ernest Trefzow received during the week a new specimen for the zoo in the shape of a Gila monster, it being donated by B. Evans of Beaver, Pa.

At Schenley park a rearrangement of some of the houses is being made at the conservatory. The new cactus house is nearly ready for the roof and the fountain in front of the building has been torn down and will be carted away during the week.

The organ recital yesterday was given by Walter E. Hale. The regular organist, Edwin H. Lemare, is on his way to England.

TURNERS TO CELEBRATE.

The Braddock Central Society Will Hold Its Twenty-fifth Anniversary Thursday Evening.

The Braddock Central Turners will celebrate their twenty-fifth anniversary on Thursday evening in the Turner theater, Hallet avenue, Braddock. An entertainment, concert and dance and supper will be given in honor of the event. The address will be delivered by Attorney Edward J. Small of Braddock.

A turning society had existed previous to the formation of the Central Turners, and in 1875 a German singing society, known as the Braddock Liederkranz, was founded. Ten years later the turning society, which is now a part of the organization, was formed. In 1887 the organizations were united, and in 1892 the present handsome building of the Turners in Hallet avenue was built.

Since that time the society has endeavored to foster the culture of vocal music and the development of strong physical manhood, and for these purposes secured teachers of the highest rank. Both the singing and turning sections are capable of giving high-class entertainments, and have reached an excellent degree of proficiency. The Central Turners' society numbers about 600 members.

AUSTRIAN SHOT BY ANGRY POLE

TROUBLE AT ECONOMY MAY END IN MURDER.

The Man Who Did the Shooting Was Followed by an Excited Crowd, but Kept Them at a Distance Until He Had a Good Start.

Mike Belic, an Austrian employed at the new plant of the American Bridge Company, near Economy, was dying last night from the effects of five bullet wounds inflicted upon him by a Pole, proprietor of a boarding house where many of the workmen lived. The Pole escaped after the shooting and was being pursued late last night by several citizens of Economy.

The trouble started several days ago over the wives of the two men. The Pole had his wife cooking in the boarding house, and Belic brought his wife to install her as cook. The Pole objected and is understood to have threatened Belic's life then. However, Mrs. Belic was put in as cook at the boarding house, and everything was going along smoothly until last night, just as the gang finished making a fill of earth and quit for the day.

Without saying a word the Pole, whose name could not be learned at this time, approached Belic, drew a revolver and started shooting. He fired five shots, all of which took effect in Belic's body, most of them in the abdomen. Belic fell to the ground and his assailant started to run in the direction of Economy, with scores of laborers in pursuit.

The Pole evidently did not intend to be captured, as every time his pursuers got too close for comfort he threatened them with his gun and scared them off until he could get a fresh start. He only ran a short distance in the direction of Economy and then turned about and started down the railroad track toward Rochester, still with a great crowd in pursuit.

Meanwhile Belic had been carried to the office of a physician, who said that he could not live. He was still living about 11 o'clock last night, though unconscious and in a very weakened condition.

Officers in Economy were quickly notified, as were police in Pittsburgh and all towns down the Ohio valley. Officers Fred Kenold and William Bott, Charles Campbell and Carroll Shaffer, a sharpshooter of the Fourteenth regiment, started from Economy in pursuit, and had not been heard from late last night.

BUSY IN BRADDOCK.

About $600,000 Was Put Into Circulation There by the Mill Men Saturday.

The merchants of Braddock and of the towns in that vicinity had one of the busiest days Saturday of the present year. The mill workers in the big establishments in the Monongahela and Turtle Creek valleys received their semi-monthly wages Saturday, and almost $600,000 was paid out on that day. This was circulated among the business men on Saturday night.

The 3,000 employes at the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company's plant at East Pittsburgh received $220,000. It is the last time at this plant that the workmen will be paid at the same time. Hereafter the pays will be made into three divisions. At the Edgar Thomson steel works the 1,200 men in the steel mills received an aggregate of $72,000; the 1,100 Carrie blast furnace employes at Rankin, $55,000; the 1,150 workmen of the Rankin plant of the American Steel & Wire Company, $60,000; Ninth street plant of the American Steel & Wire Company at Braddock, $50,000; Central Expanded Metal Company's plant at Rankin, $8,500; the 300 men at the Duquesne Forge Company's plant, Rankin, $18,000, and the Garland Chain Company's plant, also at Rankin, 300 men, $12,000. The McVay & Walker Company's foundry and car works at Braddock paid out about $10,000 to its 150 men.

PRISCILLA'S PENCIL

Saw an especially handsome foulard gown the other day in one of the shops and took notes of its most striking beauty. It was delicate green in color, not Nile green or pale green, but the pure deep color, an early maple leaf. It was made with three scant flounces to the skirt, the upper one beginning at the waist, thus giving a sort of flaring outline, quaint and graceful. The bodice had a yoke and vest of pure white mousseline draped over white silk, and crossing this were bands of pink velvet, caught together at the center with small buckles of dull gold. A hat of green, in loose soft straw, whose brim was lined thickly with crushed roses in pink, completed the costume, which would be ideal for a blond of soft coloring and pink cheeks.

An Occasional Novelty—

In spring hats strikes the eye these days, and when found should be noted, for novelties are rare and well worth seeking out. A pretty one which the Pencil noted in an obscure window lately was of black in the popular boat shape, somewhat more tilted at one side than at the other. It had no trimming other than a black quill laid on across the brim perfectly straight and a band of black and white rosettes shaped marvelously like roses about the brim. A black and then a white one was the sequence, with very natty effect.

Summer Boas—

Of soft chiffon are to be found in all the shops just now and most of them have the pendent chiffon roses which have made such a figure in the millinery and fancy dressing this last few months. A white one shown in a big department store has roses in white, hanging from varying lengths of white baby ribbon, and a lovely one in black has pink roses attached the same way nestling among the folds which lie behind the head and hanging from the streamers in front. These roses are easily made, being merely a twirl of doubled chiffon passed around the finger once or twice and then fastened.

Shepherd's Plaid—

The ever useful frock for summer wear is making an early appearance this year. A black and white one seen on Fifth avenue yesterday looked stunning in its early suggestiveness and brought attentive eyes to its wearer at every step of her way. It should be tailor made, or at least so carefully cut that every check hangs just so, and it should be worn always with a simple hat whose colors match the two in the plaid.

Cloth of Silver—

Sounds rather magnificent for a spring street gown, but it has been used with handsome effect by one stylish young woman of Pittsburgh. The gown is black broadcloth, summer weight, and cut with that exactitude of measurement which indicates the artist's hand. A perfectly straight vest of the cloth of silver is in front and turned-back cuffs show the same fabric. No other trimming is used and the effect is one of richness not easily conveyed through description.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Cincinnati, O., May 11.—Those Pittsburgh champions seem to have little consideration for any one's feelings, and it is win with them, no matter who is hurt.

With John T. Brush, chairman of the executive board, sitting in the grandstand this afternoon and with 10,000 or more of the Reds' loyal friends squeezed into League park, Fred Clarke's men gave them the worst drubbing of the season, defeating them by a score of 10 to 0.

It is unnecessary to say that there was little or no interest in the game. The crowd tried to get its money's worth guying the home team, while the stern features of Mr. Brush turned crimson.

The Pirates played ball for three innings and then were on easy street and rested on their oars so far as run getting was concerned, but took mighty good care that the Reds should not cross the pay.

Doheny, a New York cast-off, who last fall spurned the offer of the local club, was on the slab for the visitors, and he was never in better form. He had great speed and an assortment of curves that are responsible for several wrenched spines among the members of the local aggregation.

How Runs Were Scored.

For the Reds young Currie started, ill-luck was with him from the start when Davis opened with a scratch hit and Clarke followed with a similar bingle. Then came a sacrifice and a put-out, which netted a run, and a wild throw by Bergen sent another over the pan.

In the second everything went wrong for Currie. Ritchey opened the inning with a hit. Leach, Smith and Doheny followed suit. Davis died at first. Beckley muffed Steinfeldt's assist of Clarke's grounder. Then followed singles by Beaumont, Wagner and Bransfield. Currie then retired in favor of Ewing and Ritchey singled. All this netted seven runs.

In the third, with one out, Doheny was given a life by Corcoran. Davis sent a slashing three-bagger to left and Clarke singled, swelling the visitors' total to 10 runs.

There was nothing doing in the run getting line after that. Ewing pitched effectively and the Pirates did not exert themselves on the bases. The score:

EASTERN HORSE MAY CAPTURE THE AMERICAN DERBY

Fifty of the Ninety-seven Candidates Have Gone to the Post This Year.

ARSENAL'S CHANCES GOOD

Winner of Metropolitan and Tobogan May Succeed in Taking the Western Turf Event—Alan-a-Dale May Not Start.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Ill., March 11.—Probably never in the history of the American Derby, which is to be run June 21, have so many of the nominations for that classic event faced the starter as 3-year-olds so long before the date fixed for the decision of the race. And it is also probably true that never before have the prospects for the victory of an eastern horse been so bright.

No fewer than 50 of the 97 candidates have gone to the post already this year. In the majority of these cases owners have already found out that their animals do not possess Derby class, but there have been some unexpected surprises and some unexpected disappointments.

The class of the race is shown, however, by the fact that nearly every important stake thus far run has been taken by an American Derby candidate.

Beginning with the California Derby, which went to Lee B. Morris' Sombrero, down to the running of the Metropolitan, the American Derby candidates have been prominent all the way.

Only a partial list is necessary to show the class of the big Washington park race. Lord Quex won the Crescent City Derby, the Tennessee Derby went to Abe Frank and the Kentucky Derby to Alan-a-Dale. In the east the Metropolitan was landed by Arthur Featherstone's colt Arsenal, and the Toboggan by Green B. Morris' Old England.

Every one of these colts of course barring Alan-a-Dale, is more than a probable starter for the Derby. Morris and Featherstone have declared themselves as to their intentions to ship Od England, Sombrero and Arsenal to Washington park, while it is registered as a moral certainty that Abe Frank will go to the post if he has four legs to stand on.

Arsenal's victory in the Metropolitan handicap, though he carried only 90 pounds, stamped him as a good colt, and his subsequent running in the Tobogan fully confirmed it. He should be able to go a distance, and his chances for the American Derby look good, in view of the fact that he has no other stake engagements and is being pointed for the Washington park race. It was generally reported that Arsenal's victory in the Metropolitan would give him a penalty of five pounds for the American Derby. This is a mistake, as the Metropolitan is not a race for 3-year-olds only.

A horse that deserves close watching is Jacob Worth's Oom Paul. Tils colt beat all-aged horses last year, and began the new season by winning the Avenue stakes of seven furlongs at Aqueduct. He gave away weight to everything.

The following table gives the performances of all the Derby candidates that have started this year up to and including May 8:

CAMPBELL SAYS KENNEDY GAVE HIM MUCH AID

Factory Inspector Hopeful That the Beaver Member Will Be Renominated.

PUT THROUGH A GOOD LAW

Is Needed at Harrisburg Next Session to Help Secure Other Legislation That is Required by the Factory Inspector's Department.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 11.—Factory Inspector James Campbell is keeping tab on the nomination of members of the legislature, and especially those who championed his legislation last session. Among the number is T. L. Kennedy of Beaver.

The primaries in Beaver are to be held Saturday, and Inspector Campbell is particularly anxious to hear of the nomination of Mr. Kennedy because he was of invaluable assistance to the department last session in putting through legislation. As several important acts are needed, the inspector is hopeful that the Beaver member will be in the next house to take charge of the bills.

"I consider Representative Kennedy the father of the factory laws," said Inspector Campbell tonight, "and I am sorry that I do not have a vote in Beaver county. Every one connected with this department wants to see Mr. Kennedy renominated. It was by his tireless efforts in 1901 that we secured the best factory laws in the United States and we need him next session to aid us in procuring other legislation required by the department.

"I am positive that had it not been for the efforts of Representative Kennedy we would not have secured the present laws. Mr. Kennedy is an employer and deeply interested in the welfare of the workmen in the factories. Long before he became a member of the house he interested himself in factory legislation. From the opening of the last session, he was enthusiastic in support of the proposed general law we wanted. Before presenting the bill he conferred with me and suggested several changes which greatly strengthened the measure.

"After the bill was reported out of committee Director of Public Safety English of Philadelphia declared against the measure. He said that there were several provisions in the proposed law that would interfere with the administration of his office. Mr. English succeeded in securing the entire Philadelphia delegation in house and senate to oppose the bill. Mr. Kennedy set to work to remove this opposition. He conferred with Mr. English and agreed to amend the measure so as to cover his objection. The bill was then passed and finally signed by the governor. Had we not had the assistance of Mr. Kennedy the bill would have failed. Knowing his value, I naturally want to see him returned."

The Kennedy act provides for more stringent regulations in the issuing of certificates to children between the ages of 13 and 16 years. The person now administering the oath and issuing the certificate is required to examine all children as to their ability to read and write the English language, and failing to do so is liable to a fine of $500. The other provisions are the enforcement of the fire escape law on hotels, opera houses, public halls, colleges and school houses and the increase in the number of deputies.

MARSHALL GETS AN EASTERN TIP

ISRAEL W. DURHAM SAYS PENNYPACKER WILL BE NOMINEE.

Senator M. S. Quay Is at His Beaver Home and Will Probably Remain in Neighborhood All Week—Political Gossip of Western Pennsylvania.

Senator M. S. Quay is at his Beaver home. He went there yesterday from Philadelphia, and will probably remain in the west all week.

Speaker W. T. Marshall spent last week in the east. When he went to Philadelphia he confesses that he did not think there was much likelihood of Judge S. W. Pennypacker being nominated for governor. The speaker said that after a talk with Insurance Commissioner I. W. Durham he was satisfied that the Quaker City leader was for the judge. Durham told him that Pennypacker would be nominated. In talk with Quay the senator remarked that the nomination of Pennypacker was probable, as the Philadelphian was showing considerable strength.

In the Armstrong primaries Saturday, Messrs. McNees, Campbell and Jones were elected state delegates. They are claimed by both sides. It is probable that they will go to Harrisburg uninstructed. The nominations in the county were Joseph G. Beale, congress; Frank Graff and Frank Jackson, assemblymen; Williams, prothonotary; H. B. Henderson, register and recorder; F. M. King and H. J. Hays, county commissioners; H. B. Stone, coroner; John Bloch and S. G. Oliver, auditors.

Johns McCleave said last night that he was still undecided about his candidacy for the Republican nomination for congress in the city district. The indications are that he will agree to enter the race. His law partner, D. T. Watson, returned Saturday night, but Mr. McCleave did not see him yesterday. He expects to have a talk with him today.

County Recorder George M. von Bonnhorst returned from Philadelphia last night. He has been east for a week.

Politicians are watching Pittsburgh councils with great interest to ascertain how the battle between the machine and the Citizens in the matter of committee organization will terminate. President Lamble of select council has decided to have separate committees, but President Crawford of common will insist that the joint committees are the only legally constituted bodies.

Mr. Crawford gives this outline of the Citizens plans: "We will ignore the special committees named in select. I presume that President Lamble will refer all bills originating in the upper branch to his committees. Should an ordinance acted upon by one of these 'rump' committees be passed by select and messaged to us we will treat the bill as new business. It will be given to one of the joint committees and if reported out and passed finally in common will be sent to select for similar action. Of course, if the upper branch refuses to pass upon it that is not our business. It will put the recorder in a quandary when he receives such a measure for approval. I hold that the business has to be acted upon by joint committees, as the special act of 1868 provides. This law has not been repealed. The new charter is silent on the matter of committees and we have to take the act of 1868 as our guide."

F. J. Torrance, president of Allegheny select council, says that joint committees must pass upon all legislation. He is of the opinion that separate committees are not legal.

GANS THE FAVORITE.

Buffalo Sports Are Offering Odds of 10 to 9 Against Erne.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 11.—Frank Erne, the lightweight champion, will defend his title tomorrow night against Joe Gans, the colored fighter of Baltimore.

The men will meet before the International Athletic club of Fort Erie, Ont., in a 20-round bout at 126 pounds for a guaranteed purse of $5,000 and 50 per cent of the gross receipts over that amount.

Erne has been in training in this city for the last few weeks, and his trainers and backers say the champion never was in better condition than he is today.

Gans, who has done his training at Leipersville, Pa., arrived here today. He is also in good condition and is confident that he will annex the lightweight championship. Gans' money appears to be most plentiful in Buffalo, and backers of the colored fighter are giving odds of 100 to 90.

F. M. OSBORNE TO BE THE HEAD OF BELT LINE

With Associates He Has Purchased Half Interest in the Company.

COMPLETION TO BE RUSHED

Pittsburgh Terminal and Coal Company Will Develop Its Immense Holdings Rapidly, Under His Direction, and Will Extend Its Lines.

F. M. Osborne, a leader in the coal trade of Pittsburgh and Ohio districts in years past and recently retiring as the president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, has, with associates, taken over a half interest in the Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad and Coal Company and will be its president. The coal of this interest on the outskirts of Pittsburgh will be brought to the surface with the greatest speed known to modern mining engineers. It is planned to exhaust the entire body of this coal, purchased at a cost of nearly $5,000,000, within 18 years.

Mr. Osborne will probably arrive in Pittsburgh today, to enter into arrangements for the opening of the property. He will be the president of the railroad and coal company, which has opened offices adjoining his own for the Youghiogheny and Ohio Coal Company in the new Peoples Savings bank building.

The Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad and Coal Company will organize, with a capital of about $7,000,000. The company and the interests recently selling their holdings to it have contracted for the completion of the West Side belt line, from the river terminals to Clairton, where a connection will be available with the terminal railroad property of the Crucible Steel Company of America, which directly connects the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and Pennsylvania railroad systems.

Construction Is Delayed.

Construction of this road is in a measure delayed by failure of the contractors to secure their supply of rails in time. New rails are not available now before the production of November can be shipped.

However, contracts are being let for the opening and equipment of ten mines to develop the coal property along the West Side belt line and, besides, this interest holds a great stretch of surface property, practically on the outskirts of Pittsburgh, which will be available for the greatest classification yards in the country.

Among others associated with Mr. Osborne is E. Saeger, Cleveland, O., a former director of the Pittsburgh Coal Company. The other chief owners in the Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad and Coal Company are Charles Donnelly, the banker; F. N. Barnsdall, the oil operator; F. E. Nicola, the head of the many Nicola industrial interests, and J. B. Graff of Braddock, a former holder of much of the coal that is to be developed.

Much Coal to Be Developed.

J. H. McRoberts, who, in recent years, was engineering the famous Carnegie Seaboard railroad, "on a bee-line," as Andrew Carnegie has stated it, is completing the plans for the construction of the terminal lines, now graded for 12 miles out of Pittsburgh and the opening of the coal.

The 12,200 acres of coal that will be opened include 5,200 acres purchased from John W. Scully of Pittsburgh at a price aggregating approximately, $2,080,000; 1,000 acres, formerly held by the Donaldson-Hayes-Noble interest, which was purchased for about $225,000; 3,500 acres formerly held by J. B. Corey, which went in at about $490,000, and 2,300 acres purchased from the Le Moyne interests of Baltimore at about $875,000. In addition to these coal purchases the new syndicate bought $250,000 in stock of the West Side Belt Line railroad at about half that amount and arranged to meet the $350,000 bonds of this company.

The extended West Side Belt Line will cross and connect with the new Wabash road near Whitehall station, and with the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Bruce station.

Within a short time the Carnegie railroad facilities will be extended 12 miles under the charter of the Monongahela Southern railroad. This will extend the Bessemer and Union railroad lines of the United States Steel Corporation to near Monongahela City, where for years the Carnegie interests have held 15,000 acres of coal, which is now to be developed.

Mr. Osborne said at his home in Cleveland, O., last night that he had nothing to say in regard to the deal.

CHAMPIONSHIP RECORD.

President Barney Dreyfuss Anxious For the Pirates to Make Fine One This Year.

In commenting editorially upon the baseball situation J. Ed. Grillo of Cincinnati says: "The ease with which the Pittsburgh team gained and is increasing its hold on first place has caused considerable fear that the race in the National league this year would be so one-sided that the public would lose interest and refuse to attend the games.

"Others have blamed Barney Dreyfuss, the owner of the Pittsburgh club, for refusing to break up his great team to help out some of the others. Dreyfuss

SERMONS PREACHED YESTERDAY IN MANY PULPITS

Anniversary Season in the First Methodist Protestant Church.

SOME BITS OF HISTORY

This week is the anniversary season of special interest to the First Methodist Protestant church of this city. Mention of this was made at the morning service yesterday in the sermon of the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Robert J. Young. It is just 10 years since the church gave up its historic house of worship in the south side of Fifth avenue, between Smithfield and Grant streets, the closing service in the old home having continued through five days, from May 11 to May 15, 1892.

The church enjoys the distinction of being older than the denomination to which it belongs. The formal organization of the Methodist Protestant church as a national body was effected in 1830. The purpose of this general organization was to secure for Methodist laymen a representation in the annual and general conferences, in numbers and in all privileges equal to those of pastors; and to provide for local government in the churches by the members themselves.

Campaign Active in Pittsburgh.

The campaign of agitation in the Methodist Episcopal church, in behalf of laymen's rights and against the rule of the bishops, which culminated in the organization of the new denomination, had one of its centers of activity in Pittsburgh. The Methodists of Pittsburgh then held worship at the corner of Smithfield street and Sixth avenue. At a meeting held there September 27, 1827, resolutions were adopted favoring the reform movement and calling for a reconstruction of the government of the church. On March 5, 1828, the legislature of Pennsylvania passed an act incorporating "The Methodist church of the city of Pittsburgh." Seven of the nine trustees named in the charter were "reformers," and the significant omission of the word "Episcopal" from the title of the church shows the trend of sentiment in the congregation then worshiping in Smithfield street. This charter was formally adopted at a church meeting held August 4, 1828.

A congregational meeting was held after morning worship in the Smithfield street church Sunday morning, June 24, 1820. Charles Avery acted as chairman. By resolution the members declared the Rev. George Brown to be their pastor and acknowledged his leadership and oversight in spiritual matters under the "convensional articles," a temporary bond of union adopted by the reformers in convention at Baltimore, November 12, 1828.

New Church Organized.

In 1830 the reformers organized the Methodist Protestant church as a distinct denomination, and the Smithfield street reformers, led by Pastor Brown, 270 in number, became the First Methodist Protestant church of Pittsburgh.

A legal contest over the church property was finally settled by the supreme court of the state in favor of the reformers, but an amicable arrangement was effected whereby the believers in Episcopal rule retained the Smithfield street property and the reformers—the Protestants—found a home elsewhere. Ground was bought by the latter in Fifth avenue, in 1831 and the building, to be known in local history as the "Old Home Church" was erected in 1832-33, the day of dedication being June 3, 1833.

This building was used by the First church until May 15, 1892, and the record of good work done therein entitles it to a place of highest honor among the downtown churches of our city. It was in this structure that the Murphy temperance meetings were held in the winter of 1876-77, the beginning of a great movement which extended its influence over the entire country. As a result of these meetings it is said that fully 60,000 persons signed the temperance pledge in Pittsburgh and the immediate vicinity.

From the vigorous beginning of Methodist Protestantism in Pittsburgh there has come a steady and substantial growth. The denomination now has five churches in Pittsburgh, two in Allegheny and 14 in nearby towns. There are 55 churches within the bounds of Pittsburgh conference, with a total membership of about 10,000. The church membership throughout the country is about 200,000. The western department of the denominational board of publication is housed in a six-story building occupying ground adjoining that on which the "Old Home Church" stood for 60 years.

After the Fifth avenue location was given up, the First church people used the Liberty avenue mission building, pending the erection of two new houses of worship. The congregation had arranged for a division of the membership, the members living in Pittsburgh to constitute the First church with a building at the corner of Howe street and Aiken avenue, and the Allegheny members to constitute Trinity church, with a building located at the corner of Bidwell and Abdell streets. The two new structures were ready for use in the spring of 1894, the First church, in Aiken avenue, being dedicated on May 13 of that year.

Internal Affairs Are Separate.

The two properties are under the care of one board of trustees, acting under the charter of 1828, but the internal affairs of the two congregations are administered separately.

Twenty-one different pastors served the church between the years 1823 and 1892. Previous to 1873, the pastoral term varied from one to three years, a limit being in force most of that time. The Rev. Dr. J. J. Murray was pastor from April, 1873, to September, 1882. He recently retired from the active work of the ministry, and is now living in Bellevue. He is president of the Methodist Protestant Ministers' association of Pittsburgh and vicinity. The Rev. Dr. David Jones, who is now president of Adrian college, was pastor from 1883 to 1893.

At the close of his pastorate, while the united congregation worshiped in the Liberty avenue mission, the Rev. F. C. Klein began his ministry, continuing his service with the Trinity congregation when the latter entered the new church home in Allegheny.

The Rev. Dr. D. L. Greenfield became pastor of the Pittsburgh church in April, 1894, and served three years.

The Rev. Paul M. Strayer was pastor from the spring of 1897 until the autumn of 1898, and Dr. Young, the present pastor, began his work as the head of the church in October of that year.

TWELVE YEARS OF WORK COMPLETED

THE REV. W. I. WISHART CELEBRATED HIS ANNIVERSARY.

In His Sermon in the Eighth United Presbyterian Church Yesterday He Reviewed the Progress Made During the Period of His Pastorate.

The Rev. W. I. Wishart, pastor of the Eighth United Presbyterian church, Perrysville avenue, Allegheny, has rounded out 12 years in the service of God. During that time his entire work has been in the Eighth church, to which he was called immediately on leaving the seminary. Mr. Wishart is a young man yet. The Eighth church, on his taking charge, was located in the Federal street extension.

A few years ago the congregation broke ground for a more modern edifice in Perrysville avenue, which was opened a year ago last October. It is one of the handsomest churches in Allegheny, and was erected at a cost of $42,000. It is in this church that the United Presbyterian general assembly will convene on the 28th of this month. Mr. Wishart is leaving no stone unturned to prepare every convenience for the commissioners to the assembly.

His text for the twelfth anniversary sermon yesterday morning was: "Launch out now into the deep and let down your nets for a draught," Luke v:4.

Encouraging Progress Made.

He said in part: "I have chosen this text not because our condition corresponds to that of Peter and his companions who had toiled all night and taken nothing, but because I want to urge that we have a more venturesome faith for the future in view of the great blessings we have received in the past. As a basis from which to urge that we undertake still larger things let me bring before you a brief review of the past year.

"Seventy-one new names have been added to the roll of our membership during the year, 26 by profession, 45 by certificate. There were 12 infant baptisms. The aggregate of our membership today is 456. The congregation raised for its work an aggregate of $8,366, an average of $19 a member. We overpaid our 'quota' to the general work of the church by $150. This has been the best year of the congregation's history financially. The various organizations of the congregation have had a most prosperous year.

"The Young Men's association, a new organization whose aim is to help young men physically, socially, intellectually and spiritually, has proved a great success.

Work of the Young Men.

"It has equipped a good gymnasium in the basement of the church and has fitted up a reading room with first-class literature and innocent games. This has proved of great help to the young men of the congregation and vicinity.

"This organization, with the Young Men's Bible Class league and the Young People's Christian union, has done a most gratifying work in holding the young within the church and its work. The last has been a very prosperous year with our Sabbath school. The enrollment has been 506, with 44 teachers and officers, and the school has contributed in weekly offerings $1,106, all of which was devoted to missions.

"We lost but two members by death during the year.

"The pastor has delivered 210 sermons and addresses, made over 400 pastoral calls, has officiated at 11 funerals and 13 weddings. A spirit of harmony and cooperation has prevailed in the congregation and the outlook for continued and successful work is very bright. All the blessing that has attended our congregational work in the past should emphasize for us a command like this of the Master, 'Launch out now and let down your nets for a draught.' We ought to venture upon larger things for the salvation of men and for the advancement of the kingdom of the Master."

ANNIVERSARY SERMONS.

Oakmont and South Side Pastors Celebrated Special Occasions in Their Churches Yesterday.

Two well-known pastors celebrated, yesterday, interesting anniversary services of their pastorate. The Rev. Dr. L. McClure of St. Thomas' Protestant Episcopal church, Oakmont, celebrated his 10th anniversary, and the Rev. William Surdival of the South Side Congregational church, his fourth. Both held special services and preached anniversary sermons.

St. Thomas' congregation is one of the wealthiest in the diocese of Pittsburgh. When Dr. McClure took charge there were scarcely 100 members. It has now over 400 members. St. Thomas' has contributed $60,000 to church work over and above the regular expenses of the church. Three years ago a beautiful parish house was erected at a cost of $10,000. Dr. McClure has been invited to several prominent churches in the state since his incumbency, but has refused them all. Early next month he and his wife leave for a tour of Europe at the expense of the congregation. Next Sunday Bishop Whitehead will confirm a class of 30 young people of the parish.

PLACE FOR YOUNG MEN.

St. Andrew's P. E. Church to Make a Start in Institutional Work.

St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal church, Ninth street and Duquesne way, is going to make a start in the direction of taking up downtown institutional work, next Tuesday evening, by opening a gymnasium and reading rooms for young men. The Rev. Dr. John Crockar White, rector, has long felt that much good could be accomplished by establishing a headquarters for young men. To this end he has organized a club of young men of the parish, and this latest undertaking is the result.

Two rooms adjoining the church have been leased and equipped with apparatus. There are private lockers, baths and other conveniences. It is proposed to enlarge the work early in the fall, by leasing more space. The assembly rooms in the rear of the church will be used as reading rooms and library.

Tuesday the Rev. Dr. White will make an address, and several prominent laymen will encourage the work by their presence.

PRESIDENT OF ALLEGHENY IN LOCAL PULPIT

The Rev. Dr. W. H. Crawford at Crafton Methodist Episcopal Church.

TOLD OF THE PERFECT MAN

In His Sermon He Outlined the Reasons Why Christ Should Be Taken as the Standard of Manhood, Strength and Beauty.

The Rev. Dr. W. H. Crawford, president of Allegheny college, Meadville, preached yesterday morning in Crafton Methodist Episcopal church from the text, "Unto the perfect man unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ," Ephes. iv.:13. He said:

"Some one has said that the skeptic's fear is the believer's hope. Van Dyke says the nineteenth century was the century of doubt. It does seem from the standpoint of religion that it was an age of doubt. All that has been said represents not the spirit of our times, but certain tendencies of our times.

"Wherever Christianity has gone it has taken this message that men are created unto the likeness of God. On one occasion President C. W. Eliot of Harvard was asked what man's chief ends were. He replied: 'To glorify God and enjoy Him forever, that is the highest ideal of man.'

"Christ is the standard of manhood, of Christian character. Men must have some standard. There is no way of living without it. If we were simply like pieces of stone there would be no looking toward growth. We are as yet only in the childhood of our race. We have a confidence in things higher for our race. The great glory of Browning's writings was his optimism, and is found in this: 'God's in His heaven, and all is well with His world.' The trouble with some of us is that we do not act as if we believed God were in His world. We should not expect to see God face to face here that we may be fully assured.

"Nothing great has ever been accomplished without some great standard for action. With John Huss the standard for action was the authority of the Old Book and the right of free speech. There are three reasons why every man and woman in the world ought to measure their lives by the standard of Jesus.

"First, because of the strength and beauty of His character. The highest in all art is attained when strength and beauty are proportionately mated. Jesus Christ is the ideal realization of this strength and beauty.

"Second, because Jesus has experienced all our experiences and knows our life. Jesus, knowing our experiences, can be for us an ideal character.

"Third, because His is the best specimen of perfect manhood that ever lived in this world of ours.

"There are three personal reasons why Jesus Christ should be accepted: He is the Son of God; He is the unveiling of the Father to us; He is the Saviour of the world. Here is food for reflection for us, my brethren; here is hope eternal.

GREEKS ATTEND CHURCH IN THE NATIVE COSTUME

Picturesque Scene at the Service Held by Bishop Andrew Hodobay.

MESSAGE FROM THE POPE

The Apostolic Delegate to the Greeks and Slavs Who Belong to the Catholic Church Celebrated Solemn High Mass in Braddock.

Greeks from all parts of the state flocked into Braddock yesterday morning, and all day long that town looked truly picturesque with hundreds of Grecian men and women clad in their native costume. The center of attraction was SS. Peter and Paul's Greek Catholic church, George street, where the Rt. Rev. Bishop Andrew Hodobay, apostolic delegate to the Greeks and Slavs, celebrated solemn high mass and preached to the Greeks of his mission to them.

It was the greatest ecclesiastical event seen in Braddock in many years. There were 15 Greek priests in the sanctuary and a score or more of altar boys. The mass, as is customary among the Greeks, was sung in their native tongue. Before the "Credo" the apostolic delegate mounted the pulpit and in his fine native tongue discoursed for nearly an hour to the assemblage. As interpreted for The Gazette he said in part:

"I come to you, Greeks, in the name of the Holy Father and bring to you his blessing. He has sent me here to inquire into your needs and see to it that you forget not the faith of your fathers. I am proud to know and to see from your presence here today that you have not forgotten the early Grecian days when your fathers and mothers instilled into you the principles of our holy mother, the church. This beautiful edifice is a strong argument of your devotion to God and the religion. I shall not forget to let Pope Leo know that the Greeks still have God uppermost in their hearts. I shall be with you for several days and be glad to be of service to you and yours as best I may."

The bishop wound up his sermon with an appeal to the Greeks to preserve their faith and to attend church and the sacraments regularly. Bishop Hodobay arrived in this vicinity last Wednesday and will visit the various Greek Catholic churches in the county. He will come to Pittsburgh this morning and visit the South Side church. Later in the week he will leave for a tour of the west. During his visitation here the Rev. A. Petrasovich, pastor of SS. Peter and Paul's church, Braddock, will be his guide. The bishop will have permanent quarters soon in Washington, D. C.

CREED REVISION DURING THE WEEK

COMMITTEE WILL REPORT TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

If the Draft Is Adopted It Will Be Sent to Presbyteries, Who Will Vote on It, but Have No Power to Alter—President Roosevelt Will Speak.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, May 11.—Of more than usual importance is the meeting of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, which will be held in this city this week.

On the second day of the assembly a report will be read by the revision committee on the proposed revision of the Confession of Faith. In the explanatory statement the committee will offer, it is declared, that no man is condemned except on the ground of his sin, and it is denied that the Presbyterian church teaches that anyone dying in infancy is lost.

President Roosevelt will be present at the home missionary meeting in Carnegie hall on the evening of May 20, when he will deliver an address on the subject of home mission life as he has seen it. In connection with the meeting of the general assembly the board of home missions of the Presbyterian church will celebrate its centennial this year. Among its speakers will be the Rev. Dr. Henry C. McCook of Philadelphia, the Rev. Dr. Nichols of St. Louis and the Rev. Dr. Edgar Hill of Portland, Ore.

After the members of the revision committee have made their report an hour will be appointed for discussion. Should the commissioners take a favorable view of the report as it is presented, or as it may be modified during the discussion, it will be placed before the presbyteries. These may approve or reject the proposed changes, although they have not the power to alter them.

FORTUNE AND DESTINY ARE FALSE IDOLS

The Rev. Dr. W. S. Fulton Preached on This Theme at Point Breeze Church.

In the Point Breeze Presbyterian church last night the Rev. Dr. W. S. Fulton delivered the fourth of his series of sermons on texts which are given in new form in the revised version of the Scriptures. His text was: "But ye that forsake Jehovah, that forget My holy mountain, that prepare a table for fortune and that fill up mingled wine unto destiny." Isaiah 65:xi. He said in part:

"The prophet is warning his readers against forsaking the true God and His worship and giving their homage to fortune and destiny. But what have we to do with that old idolatry which tempted the people of Israel? Many in the generation to which we belong are doing exactly what the prophet warns Israel against doing. Take first destiny. Is not this among the most popular of present-day false gods? When men forsake Jehovah and abandon the worship of the intelligent, free, wise and loving Father in heaven, not a few of them ascribe all power to a blind, soulless working of things which they perhaps call law.

"When men attribute to heredity such power that there is no room left for personal freedom and responsibility, are they not in their hearts bowing to this old idol of destiny? Or when they ascribe to environment a power which makes impossible liberty of choice or freedom of will, are they not giving homage to this same destiny? It matters not what name they may give to it. They may call it law or fate or evolution of destiny. They may speak of it as a god or a force or as a kind of undefined nature of things, but whenever men put their faith in a something which would make us irresponsible cogs in a soulless machine they are modern imitators of the ancient worshipers of destiny.

"'Little children,' wrote the Apostle John, 'keep yourselves from idols.' Let the people of this generation keep themselves from this old idol. There is no such power as destiny. We are free agents and citizens of a kingdom governed by a free and sovereign God. To him we are responsible for the choices we make and for the characters we develop under the influence of those choices."

LESSON FROM EGYPT.

The Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young Preached on the "Voices From the Pyramids."

The Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, spoke yesterday morning on "Voices of the Pyramids of Egypt." He said in part: "Come, Americans, youthful, self-confident people of the west, none more than you need to hear the voices of Egypt. Turn back the ages five and twenty centuries. From the shining summit of the granite encasement of Cheops' pyramid scan this gorgeous prospect. Ezekiel is just entering in the Almighty's decree the obliteration of this empire. Absurd! Is it not millenniums old already? Has not this very pyramid stood to witness the realm's glory two thousand years? Know you that our Pharaoh Uaphris but yesterday defeated the fleet of Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon?

"Ah, Egypt, every item thus far may be true; yet God says 'I am against thee.' Ill-omened the day when Americans, when Pittsburghers, who lead the world this hour in prosperity temporal, shall conclude that all is well because the external life is well. The worst moment morally is often the finest financially. Notice if a revival of religion does not follow the catastrophe of Martinique, as it followed the Charleston earthquake. Pity it is that human nature works that way—but it does."

KOSHER SHOPS CLOSED.

New York Butchers Will Attempt to Force Price of Meat Down by Refusing to Buy.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Fifteen hundred retail kosher butchers of the East Side met today to consider the advance in prices of meat by the wholesale kosher butchers. In an attempt to force down the price today's meeting decided that the retail shops should be closed all day tomorrow and Tuesday, and that no meat should be bought from the wholesalers on those days.

The question of a continuance of the refusal to buy meat will be discussed at a meeting to be held Tuesday night.

BRIGHTON ROAD LOTS

The Kleber Plan, in Allegheny.

The Finest Lots in the Two Cities. Adjoining the Brighton Country Club.

Only 25 minutes from the business center of Pittsburgh.

These desirable lots are not situated in the middle of a farm; they are in the heart of the very best residential district of Allegheny, running 600 feet along Brighton road and 600 feet back toward California ave., adjoining and being a part of the property until recently occupied by the Allegheny Country Club.

This property is level, lies high and dry and is free from the city smoke and dirt, being, in fact, cleaner and healthier than Bellevue, Avalon, the East End and other nearby suburbs.

The Brighton road and California ave. cars pass by this property, requiring about 25 minutes to reach the business center of Pittsburgh. The property is located about half way between Allegheny and Bellevue.

Don't Wait

Buy a lot for investment or a home. Reference to the above plan will show that these lots are amply large for roomy houses and lawns.

Considering the high quality of these most desirable home sites, the prices at which they can be bought are the most reasonable that were ever put on such gilt-edge property. Plans mailed on application. 'Phone 1528 Grant and 614 Main, or call on

THREE-CORNERED TILT IN STONE'S BOYHOOD HOME

Watres, Pennypacker and Elkin Have Strong Backing in Tioga County.

FOUR VOTES THE PRIZES

The Governor Has Been Pouring Appointments Into the Lap of the County—Neither Side Certain How Dauphin Delegates Will Act.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Wellsboro, Pa., May 11.—The lines have been drawn for one of the hardest battles in the history of Tioga county Republican politics. Four state delegates are at stake and three gubernatorial candidates are determined to get these votes.

Tioga is one of the home counties of Gov. William A. Stone. During his entire administration he has been dumping appointments into Tioga in the hope of securing control. He wishes the delegates for Elkin, his candidate for governor. The primaries are to be held May 31.

Elkin, Judge Pennypacker and Col. Watres have announced their candidacy in the county. The man who polls a majority of the votes will get the delegates. It is difficult to pick the winner, as strong men are behind each of the gubernatorial aspirants.

There are three slates of delegates in the field. The Elkin men were set up by ex-Judge Cameron, who was appointed law judge by Gov. Stone but failed to secure the nomination. Cameron will have the assistance of the governor and all of the state pay roll.

Robert Young, chairman of the county committee, is conducting the fight for Watres. Young is a son of the national bank examiner and is very strong in Tioga. He holds an appointment from Stone, being counsel for the state capitol commission. Whether a new lawyer will be chosen by the commission remains to be seen.

The Pennypacker delegates all appear to be friends of Judge Jerome B. Niles, who defeated Judge Cameron for the judicial nomination, and consequently is not on the governor's list of favorites. Judge Niles is very strong in Tioga, and if he throws his strength to Pennypacker the Philadelphian will have the advantage.

Tioga is the home of E. A. Van Valkenberg and he has always had considerable political influence. So far he has not shown his hand in the contest. It is possible that he will try to assist the Elkin slate, believing that the attorney general would be easier to defeat by the independents in the fall.

HARRISBURG, PA., May 11.—(Special.)—Neither the Quayites nor the Elkinites in the New Dauphin county convention, seven delegates to the Republican state convention will vote on the governorship. The Quayites insist that the delegates will not be instructed and that they will voice the sentiment of the county by voting for Senator Quay's choice. On the other hand, the Elkinites claim that six of the delegates will surely vote for Elkin and that they stand a good chance of getting the seventh.

CARBO AND HIS TROUBLES

Well-Known Braddock Man and Woman Collide With Unwelcome Woman From Over the Sea.

The better class of Braddock Polish residents, and not a few other citizens of that place, are much interested over the position Andrew Carbo finds himself in. Less than a month ago Carbo and a woman who has been known in Braddock as Mrs. Julia Antonischin, went to Muncie, Ind., and reports from there are to the effect that they lived there as man and wife. In Braddock Mrs. Antonischin was known as a widow and Carbo was understood to be merely a boarder at her house.

About a week ago there arrived in Braddock from the fatherland across the sea a woman who said she was the wife of Carbo that she had married him in the old country 20 years ago; that they had corresponded during all the 13 years he had been in this country and that five weeks ago she had written to him informing him that at last she had decided to come to this country and join him. Reaching Braddock and finding that he had gone to Muncie with another woman, she followed him there. When she faced him, penniless and alone in a strange country, the language of which she could not speak, she gave way to tears and entreated him to take her back again. The husband refused.

Carbo told the Muncie police that, becoming tired of his native town, he left there in 1889 and started for this country; that his wife refused to come with him; that he repeatedly sent money to bring her to this country, but still she refused, and that shortly before leaving Pennsylvania he had applied for a divorce, that, believing it to have been granted, had married Mrs. Antonischin and together they had removed to Muncie. Muncie police decided they could no nothing. Mrs. Carbo No. 1, being penniless, was sent back to Braddock.

Carbo is well educated and was employed at the Edgar Thomson steel works at Braddock. Mrs. Antonischin is also well educated, is fine looking and speaks eight different languages. Not so very long ago she circulated petitions for the purpose of securing a position as interpreter in the criminal court here, and also at the state capitol at Harrisburg, but she departed before any action was taken. Mrs. Antonischin lived in Washington avenue, Braddock, with her three children, one daughter and two sons. She took them with her when she went away. After they had been absent about 10 days one of the daughters returned to Braddock, saying she did not like her new father.

A few days later a woman answering Mrs. Antonischin's description went to the Muncie police and made information against a man she said was her husband, charging him with assault. The police arrested both man and woman, and it was through this happening that the pair was finally definitely located at Muncie for Mrs. Carbo No. 1.

CINCINNATI, May 11.—In the United States court Mrs. Lillie M. Walker of Philadelphia has filed a petition for a receiver of Oxford college, Oxford, O. The defendants are the directors of the institution.

Prior to 1897 Mrs. Walker owned the college property, and her husband, Dr. Wayne S. Walker, was president of the college. A stock company was afterward organized, of which Mrs. Walker became a stockholder, and the present suit is for both an accounting and for damages. There are about 100 young ladies at the college now.

PITTSBURGH PRICES FOR FARM PRODUCTS

Another Advance in Lard. Strawberries Abundant. Flour Is Steady.

Summary for Last Week.

The list of hay and grain quotations has been marked by declines in nearly all departments since the opening of the week. Timothy hay has been quiet and is lower. Rye has dropped a fraction. Shelled corn is a trifle weaker, although car is stronger than it was last Monday, but easier than during the middle of the week. Oats went lower, then reacted, and closed on Saturday firmer than on Friday, but not high in price as at the opening. Millfeed is one of the firmer articles on the list, but white middlings are not quite up to the level of Monday's quotations; straw remains unchanged.

The flour market has remained fairly steady and nominal quotations are the same as on Monday. There is an inclination on the part of some local jobbers to make concessions from these figures, while others are predicting much higher markets and think the lowest point of the summer season has been passed. Cereals are easier. Navy beans are higher and firm, while dried peas and lentils are weak. Hops are unchanged. Canned goods have been without special feature for some time and prices are as they have been for the same period a week ago, but quotations in the interim have been considerably lower, the last two or three days finding stock less plentiful. Strawberries have gone away down since last Monday, quotations being less than half what they were at that time. There was a little more firmness on Saturday, but fresh arrivals are expected in today, which will likely keep the market from advancing. Asparagus is lower and is much sought after. Lemons, oranges and bananas show little change from former quotations.

Butter remained without change of price on Monday, and has been firm all week, dealers either looking for an advance or saying this is uncertain, however, as to the situation was a shade less strong on Saturday, and it may be prices will do no more than remain steady through the week. Eggs, on the other hand, are and is in limited supply. Eggs are weaker, with 17 cents about the top of the market, and this price only obtained occasionally.

Poultry is a little lower, the demand for chickens falling off. Receipts are no heavier, but request is light.

Salt and smoked meats remain unchanged, while lard advanced one-fourth cent per pound.

Thomas Wade, the negro who shot Thomas Flaherty in Greenwalt's pool room in Soho, three weeks ago, was arrested yesterday by Detectives William McElroy and Bernard McSloy at his home in Gazzam street. The two detectives had been assigned to the case and watched Wade's haunts, expecting that he would slip home some time.

When brought to detective headquarters, Wade said that he had shot Flaherty in self-defense. Flaherty and his friends, Wade said, reproached him with being a friend of George E. Christian, the negro who shot and killed a man named Hoban the year before last, escaped to New York, was captured and sentenced to death, and had his sentence commuted to life imprisonment by Gov. Stone. Wade, who has no criminal record, was one of Christian's character witnesses.

He says the "Soho crowd" had been prejudiced against him since Christian's trial, and that on the night he shot Flaherty the crowd went at him with billiard cues. Flaherty was seriously wounded, but was discharged from the hospital cured, two days ago.

BREAD BUSINESS HAS GROWN TO VAST DIMENSIONS

LARGER DEMAND COMING

Nowadays Bread Baking Is Carried on According to Scientific Principles and Perfect Results Are Obtained—Chemist's Important Part.

The remarkable increase in the demand for bread, owing to the high price of beef, has caused various large baking firms in the United States, and especially in Pittsburgh, to prepare for the increased demand, which is expected to be greater in the next two years. George S. Ward, a member of the Ward-Mackey Company of this city, in speaking of the matter said:

"There is no question but that the bread business is today in its infancy. It has grown to its present vast proportions in the last 15 years, and this may be accounted for because of the improved quality of the product. The difference in the bread and the wonderful progress made in the art of baking explains largely why so much baker's bread is used today.

"As a result of the improvement in baker's bread home baking is becoming a lost art, and old-fashioned Dutch ovens, formerly seen in the back yards, are rapidly becoming a thing of the past. Girls recently married know little or nothing about baking, as a rule, and the family naturally looks to the baker to supply the bread. Baking is also becoming a lost art among servant girls. Very few, if any, of them can now bake a good loaf of bread, and none of them can bake equal to what is produced by the improved process by which we bake 'Mother's bread.'

No Secret Process Used.

"There is really no secret about the baking of 'Mother's bread,'" continued Mr. Ward, "though the machine that does the mixing and the process the bread goes through in the mixing are both patented. They are known as the Colby patents. The mixing machine was patented on December 26, 1899, and the process on July 18 of the same year. These patents are very valuable, and the Ward-Mackey Company has exclusive control of them.

"What is the difference in the process from that used by other bakers?"

"That can best be answered by comparison between the method we employ and those used in baking your own bread in the kitchen at home. The latter operation is usually performed by the housewife or servant, and she makes ready by providing herself with a quantity of yeast and then, usually about bedtime, mixes up a sponge that is composed of flour, water, yeast and, possibly, some potatoes. The sponge is mixed and set by the stove, or in a warm corner of the room, to take its chances, depending on the temperature for its condition on the following morning. You can see the great liability of having [illegible] of a poor quality in this way, be[illegible] of the fact that the temperature [illegible]ble to change during the period of [illegible]mentation that has been started by the [illegible]bination of flour, water and yeast.

The Housewife's Method.

"In the morning the housewife will add more flour and water and make a comparatively stiff dough, possibly adding some other ingredients, according to her own ideas, and the dough is then allowed to stand to ferment again for several hours. It is then made up into loaves and, after a time, is baked in a range or stove where the heat may or may not be right, and the result may be a loaf of bread properly baked, but it is more likely to be heavy and soggy, with scarcely two loaves alike.

"The housewife generally endeavors to bake enough to supply the family for the entire week; consequently, because of the varying age of the bread, you never have bread at home that is alike for two days. With us the entire process is carried along from beginning to end under scientific principles. There is absolutely no guesswork. The temperature of the room, the temperature of the dough and the temperature of the oven are very important and are always in absolute control.

"We employ a chemist, who has been specially schooled in testing flour, yeast, milk etc., and it is his duty to make daily tests of the material that is going into that day's baking, so that if there is any variation of the slightest character we know before the material has been mixed and are enabled to slightly change the quantity of one or the other and thus insure uniform results."

Results Known Beforehand.

"Do you mean to say that before using a barrel of flour you can tell absolutely just what results you are going to secure from it?"

"Barring accidents we can tell what the result is going to be to a nicety. When the flour first comes to the bakery we place it in well-ventilated warerooms and generally allow it to remain there until it has had three months' age from the date of milling, at which age flour is always best. As each sack is opened it is run through volting machines and then cleaned, sifted and aerated, and conveyed by machinery direct to the hoppers, from which the flour is drawn into the mixers.

"We handle about 300 barrels of flour and bake from 50,000 to 60,000 loaves of bread every day, and in cleaning the flour you would be surprised to see the specks of dirt, chips of wood, bran, grains of wheat and the fiber that comes off the sack, all of which is separated from the flour before it is used. The flour is then tested by the chemist for the following determinations: Glutenem, glyadin, wet gluten, total expansion, expansion per gram, absorption, loaf volume, quality, color, average value, proper fermenting period, bread volume and loss in baking. The yeast is also tested for purity, strength and cubic centimeters of gas volume to a given quality."

Mixer an Important Feature.

"What is the process under which you bake your bread, and of what does it consist?"

"The patented mixer mentioned is an all-important part of it. The ones we use are made to handle six barrels of flour at one mixing. Each one is constructed to run at from 65 to 70 revolutions per minute and represents a vessel or chamber in which the ingredients, such as flour, water, salt, yeast and milk are placed, and where the mixing of these and the dough-making manipulation takes place. It has a half cylindrical lower portion or bottom, straight sides and a hinged cover. Within the vessel is mounted a beater, which during the mixing and dough manipulating operation is caused to revolve with the rapidity already stated. This arrangement insures a perfect and rapid mixing of the ingredients and a thorough beating and manipulation of the dough.

"We do not set any sponge whatever. The mixing is all done at one operation. The ingredients of which the dough is to be formed are placed within the vessel, the cover is closed and the beater started at high speed and run at exact number of revolutions, each and every mixing receiving exactly the same. This operation quickly results in the making of a perfect dough, that is to say, a dough in which every particle of the gluten-forming ingredients of the flour is brought into contact with the necessary quantity of liquid, which results in perfect hydration and the consequent formation and development of gluten, and also a dough in which there is a complete, perfect and uniform distribution of the yeast particles throughout the dough mass.

How the Mass Is Aereated.

"At the same time a perfect aereation of the mass has been caused by forcing cold air into the mixer during the process of mixing, so that when the mass is ready to remove from the mixer it has been thoroughly permeated with tiny air cells, thus allowing the fermentation caused by the pressure of the yeast to accomplish its purpose of leavening the mass in from four to five hours' less time than is necessary under ordinary process.

"It is necessary that the yeast germ should be fed by some food in order to create fermentation. The natural food for yeast provided for flour is the starch and gluten, so that it can be readily understood that the greater the time fermentation continues in the mass the less starch and gluten remains.

"It is well known that the flour of wheat differs from that of all other seeds and grains, in that a dough made therefrom is coherent to a greater degree than a dough made from any other flour, and this is due to the gluten of the wheat, which, when combined with the liquids, forms a tenacious, elastic mass. The gluten of wheat owes its peculiar characteristics largely to the presence of two proteid substances known as glyadin and glutenem, and it is believed to be because of these substances and the peculiarities of the gluten into which they enter as constituents that wheat flour is so favorably adopted for the making of leaven or fermented bread, and, as a matter of fact, tells why bread of this character is called 'the staff of life.'

What Constitutes a Perfect Dough.

"In the making of a theoretically perfect dough there are several desiderata: First, every molecule of the gluten-forming constituents in the flour should be provided with a sufficient amount of liquid to perfectly hydrate it, and thereby develop the strength of the dough; second, the particles of yeast employed should be uniformly distributed throughout the dough and be brought into contact with the materials necessary to its growth in order that the action of the yeast upon the flour shall be facilitated and that the gas generated shall be uniformly distributed throughout the dough mass; and, third, in a perfect dough the gluten fully hydrated, the starch and other materials in the flour must be so related to the yeast that practically every particle of the latter will be surrounded by a coating of gluten in order that the gas developed shall be distributed with uniformity throughout the dough mass, so that there may be uniformity in the distribution and size of the pores of the completed bread.

"The results secured by this process, in comparison with the bread of any other baker or housewife, is more moist, of better flavor, contains at least 20 per centum more gluten, is whiter and contains a natural wheat flavor that is not obtainable under any other process."

Baked in Continuous Ovens.

"How is the bread baked?"

"It is baked in what is known as continuous ovens, that is, the baking chamber is separate and apart from the furnace or the fire box. The baking chamber is surrounded by a number of flues and the heat thus radiated permits the baking chamber to be used at all times, irrespective of the condition of the fire, and it also insures absolute cleanliness because of the fact that fire or smoke does not come in direct contact with the baking chamber. The bread is baked under a temperature of 500 degrees Fahrenheit. It remains in this oven about 35 or 40 minutes, depending on the size of the loaf. It is then taken from the oven and placed on racks, so as to allow a free circulation of the air around each loaf, permitting it to cool perfectly. In three hours' time it is ready for packing and delivery."

ODD FELLOWS MEET.

Preliminary Steps Taken Yesterday For the Dedication of the New Home at Grove City.

About 300 active workers of the new I. O. O. F. Home for Aged and Infirm members, located at Grove City, Pa., met in Mendel's hall, in East Ohio street, Allegheny, yesterday afternoon, to arrange for the dedication of the new home on July 17. Delegates were present from nearly every lodge in Western Pennsylvania.

L. K. White presided at the meeting and John Fielding acted as secretary. It was decided that a general committee of arrangements, consisting of three members from each lodge in Western Pennsylvania and aggregating about 900, be appointed to arrange for the dedicatory exercises. This committee will meet in Mendel's hall, Allegheny, on Sunday afternoon, May 25, when sub-committees will be appointed to superintend the various branches of the work of arrangements.

It is the intention to arrange accommodations for at least 25,000 visitors on the day of the dedication and excursion trains will be run on all roads as far east as Mifflin county, south as far as Fairmont, W. Va.; north into southern New York, and west to Youngstown, O.

It is anticipated that the event will be one of the greatest ever experienced in the history of Odd Fellows in this section.

The Home will be called the "Wayside Inn," and the proceeds of the dedication will be used in building additions and in improving the premises generally.

GRAHAM FEELS CONFIDENT KNOX WILL ACT RIGHT

Allegheny Congressman Says Tariff on Cattle Will Not Be Lifted.

SHERMAN ACT SUFFICIENT

Tinkering With Tariff Would Tend to Unsettle Trade and Destroy Prosperity—Threat Does Not Scare Local Men.

"Congress will not take off the tariff on cattle imports, but will leave Attorney General Knox to deal with the beef trust," said Congressman W. H. Graham yesterday. "The leaders of the majority in congress are opposed to tinkering with the tariff at present. They believe the removal of duties on food products would start a general movement to strike at the tariff on steel, iron and other protected products.

"This is not because they think the steel trade and its allied industries could not stand a reduction in tariff rates, but the reason that if there is any change to be made in the protective system at this time, when conditions are so prosperous, it would unsettle trade and have a tendency to drive out capital.

"While it is true that the removal of the tariff on cattle imports might have some effect on the beef trust's methods, it would not change the situation materially, as there are few cattle shipped into this country from either Canada or Mexico.

"The leaders in congress believe that the better course is to let Attorney General Knox go after the beef trust and enforce the Sherman anti-trust law. Mr. Knox has proceeded cautiously and I believe he will accomplish something," added Mr. Graham.

Wrecking Threatened by Westerners.

Agents for the western packers have warned local packers and provision men that unless they desist in their exposure of the freight rebate system in the Pittsburgh district that they will drive the home concerns out of business by retaliatory measures. Agents for the beef trust seem to be much disturbed over the charges made by the local wholesalers.

"The western concerns have an advantage over us in the matter of freight rebate, but we will not be intimidated by any threats," said a Pittsburgh wholesaler yesterday. "While the western packers are the beneficiaries, we are not making our fight against the packers, but against the railroads.

"We are watching the outcome of Attorney General Knox's action. If the government does the work for us it will not be necessary for us to do anything. If the government does not put a stop to the discrimination we will take our case before the interstate commerce commission. We have evidence to prove our charges, which are acknowledged by the agents of the western houses who have called upon us and notified us that we must stop or they will make trouble for us.

No Drop in Prices Is in Sight.

Former employes of the western packers, now working for local firms, will go before the interstate commerce commission and testify that western houses are permitted to peddle meat in freight cars throughout the Pittsburgh district without paying freight, and that the practice has been going on for years."

Prices of dressed meats will not be any lower this week. If there is any change at all they will be a little stiffer, as the western packers and commission men have succeeded in curtailing the shipments of live stock to the markets. Their action in refusing to buy for the purpose of compelling farmers and stockmen to hold back their live stock produced the desired effect and the packers have been able to regulate the supply so that former high prices on live stock have been reached.

While there have been radical changes in the prices of live stock within the past two weeks, dressed meats have not changed a quarter of a cent a pound. Dressed beef will sell next week for 10½ to 11½ cents, lambs from 12 to 13 cents and fresh pork loins at 12½ cents. Smoked meats, dry salt meats and dry salt smoked meats will sell at last week's figures. There will be another advance in the price of lard. The schedule for next week raises the price of lard from 11 to 11¼ cents.

Bloody Fight in Blue Grass State.

Tin Mills to Resume Work.

NEW CASTLE, PA., May 11.—(Special.)—Ten of the 30 mills of the Shenango plant of the American Tin Plate Company will resume operations tomorrow, having been idle since the plant was partially wrecked by the high wind last Tuesday. It is not yet known when the other 20 mills will resume.

HELEN KELLER IS A GUEST AT OAKMONT

CELEBRATED UNFORTUNATE AT HOME OF WILLIAM WADE.

Despite the Fact That She Is Deaf, Dumb and Blind, She Is Able to Identify the Different Animals at Robinswood, Where She Is Staying.

Helen Keller is visiting at Robinswood, the home of William Wade, in Oakmont. Mr. and Mrs. Wade met this remarkable young woman about 12 years ago and since then she has been a frequent visitor at their house. Helen Keller is blind, deaf and dumb. Although dumb she can speak and although deaf she can understand what others say by putting the tips of her fingers on their lips. She is accompanied by Miss Sullivan, who has been her teacher and companion almost since the girl lost the senses of sight, speech and hearing, at the age of 2 years. Miss Keller's progress was so remarkable that she entered Radcliffe college, the women's annex to Harvard university, and was graduated from there.

She has made frequent visits to Robinswood in the last 12 years, becoming acquainted with many persons in Oakmont. On her periodical visits she recognizes them all by the sense of touch and the tones of their voices. Mr. Wade has a number of donkeys on his place and sometimes when he is patting one he forgets its name, but Miss Keller, by merely putting her hand on its hide, says: "Why, this is Alice," or "This is Jim," as the case may be, and is invariably found to be correct in her diagnosis. She knows all the horses, cows and dogs on the place. Every nook and cranny about there is familiar to her and she can find her way about unaided.

The young woman is an inveterate reader and remembers and profits by what she reads. She speaks plainly and distinctly, with a rare choice of words, although her voice is monotonous, it being impossible for her to acquire the modulations of tone of a person who sees. She is an expert horsewoman. Although she cannot see she appreciates the beauties of nature and has written some remarkable descriptions of places she has visited, her impressions having been received from those who can. She has written a famous description of Niagara Falls.

As a worm-destroyer, Dr. D. Jayne's Tonic Vermifuge is unequaled, and to the weak and sickly, it is wonderfully helpful as a strength-giver.

DETROIT STRIKE AVERTED.

Street Railway Employes Accept Employers' Offer to Arbitrate Questions at Issue.

DETROIT, May 11.—After a session which lasted from midnight until 4 o'clock this morning the street railway employes of this city resolved to submit the dispute with the Detroit United Railway over their demand for a raise in wages from 21 cents per hour to 25 cents per hour to arbitration.

The company last week refused the raise demanded and offered the men instead a raise to 22½ cents per hour, and also offered to submit the entire question to arbitration. A mass meeting of the men was called for last night to consider the offer. After considerable discussion the men adopted a resolution ordering their officers to accept the offer to arbitrate the matter. The officers were instructed to offer to submit the matter either to the state board of arbitration or to a board of three, one to be selected by the union, one by the company, and they to select a third. The dispute is to be arbitrated and settled within 10 days.

There was considerable sentiment at the meeting in favor of an immediate strike, but this was headed off by the officers of the union.

RABBIS REBUKED.

New York Hebrew Congregation Condemns Suggested Change of Jewish Sabbath.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The discussion concerning the observance of the Sabbath which arose during the annual session of the central conference of American rabbis in New Orleans recently has stirred up more or less argument among the orthodox Hebrews in this city. Vigorous protest has been made against the liberal school of rabbis who raised the question in the conference to the extent of suggesting that the Sabbath day should be changed. The Talmud Torah committee of the Ohab Zekok congregation, this city, met and after denouncing the conduct of the rabbis at New Orleans sent, through Louis Friedman, chairman of the committee, a telegram to the conference at New Orleans as follows:

"Raphoport at Braunschweig conference said 'for tearing down not architects are called, but unskilled laborers.' Make a pesiah gessah (radical step), accept Christianity and settle it all."

A circular is being distributed among the members of synagogues calling on the Jews to remain steadfast to their traditions and to aid in founding schools to keep the faith alive.

Special Order Work in Our Third Floor Millinery Department.

Our corps of experienced milliners leads us to say, perhaps somewhat egotistically, that we do faultless work. But the statement is pardonable.

50c Diamond Dot Mousseline, 28c Yd.

An exquisite effect in this prettiest of Summer dress material.

You know mousseline — the best kind is a combination of silk and cotton. This is the best kind and regularly it sells for 50c a yard.

What's the odds how we can sell it for 28c?

That has nothing to do with the material. Put it this way: "It isn't every day that I can save 22 cents a yard on Summer dress stuff for all sorts of outdoor parties."

Pink, blue, ecru, cream, white and black.

$5 Colonials for $3.50.

Women will certainly appreciate this—it gives them the opportunity to wear a patent ideal kid Colonial Oxford of finest make for the price of a medium grade.

This low-cut shoe is finished with light hand-turned sole, Louis XV. heel, beautiful buckle—a dainty shoe for evening wear or for thin dress wear. Sizes 3 to 7—widths AA to D.

Women's Petticoats $1.25.

But a $2.75 value.

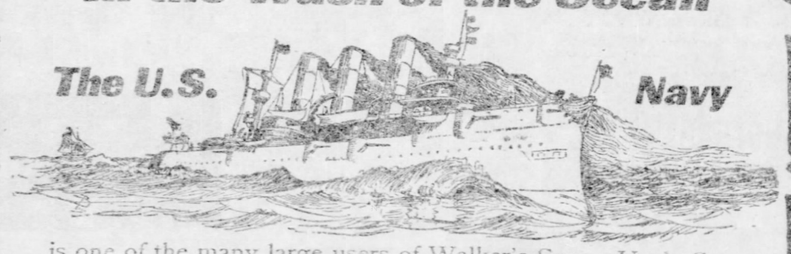
In the Wash of the Ocean



is one of the many large users of Walker's Soap. Uncle Sam selects only the best of everything for his service.

contains no alkali, and is therefore the best for the cleansing of fine paint and varnish. It cleans the most delicate finish, without slightest injury to colors or gloss. It is pure solid soap, without the vile greases of common soap. Look for the game rooster on the wrapper.
